Chargers celebrate 'Better than Ever' during festive week

"Better than Ever" was chosen for Clark's 1981 Homecoming theme.

A variety of festivities added to the spirit of the week, October 19-24. Among the many activities were the following: mess-eating contest, chariot races, VW races, and the golfball swing. The various dress-up days included M*A*S*H Day, Toga Day, California-Hawaii Day, Sports Day, and Black and Gold Day.

Seniors proved their spirit by their overwhelming victory in the VW races and hall decoration effort, while juniors won with their decorating of the gym and sophomores nabbed the bulletin board title. Senior Sebastian Balle was honored as Spanish Club's "Ugly Man," and Mr. Football was awarded to Tom Wideen.

With a winning 5-1 previous record and a shot at the state title, the Chargers were disappointed by a 28-9 loss to the Gorman Gaels. Pre-game festivities included the seniors winning the float competition. Michelle McDonald was Homecoming queen; her court included Nadine Kuhn, Susan Murray, Malika Souiri, and Tammy Tussey.

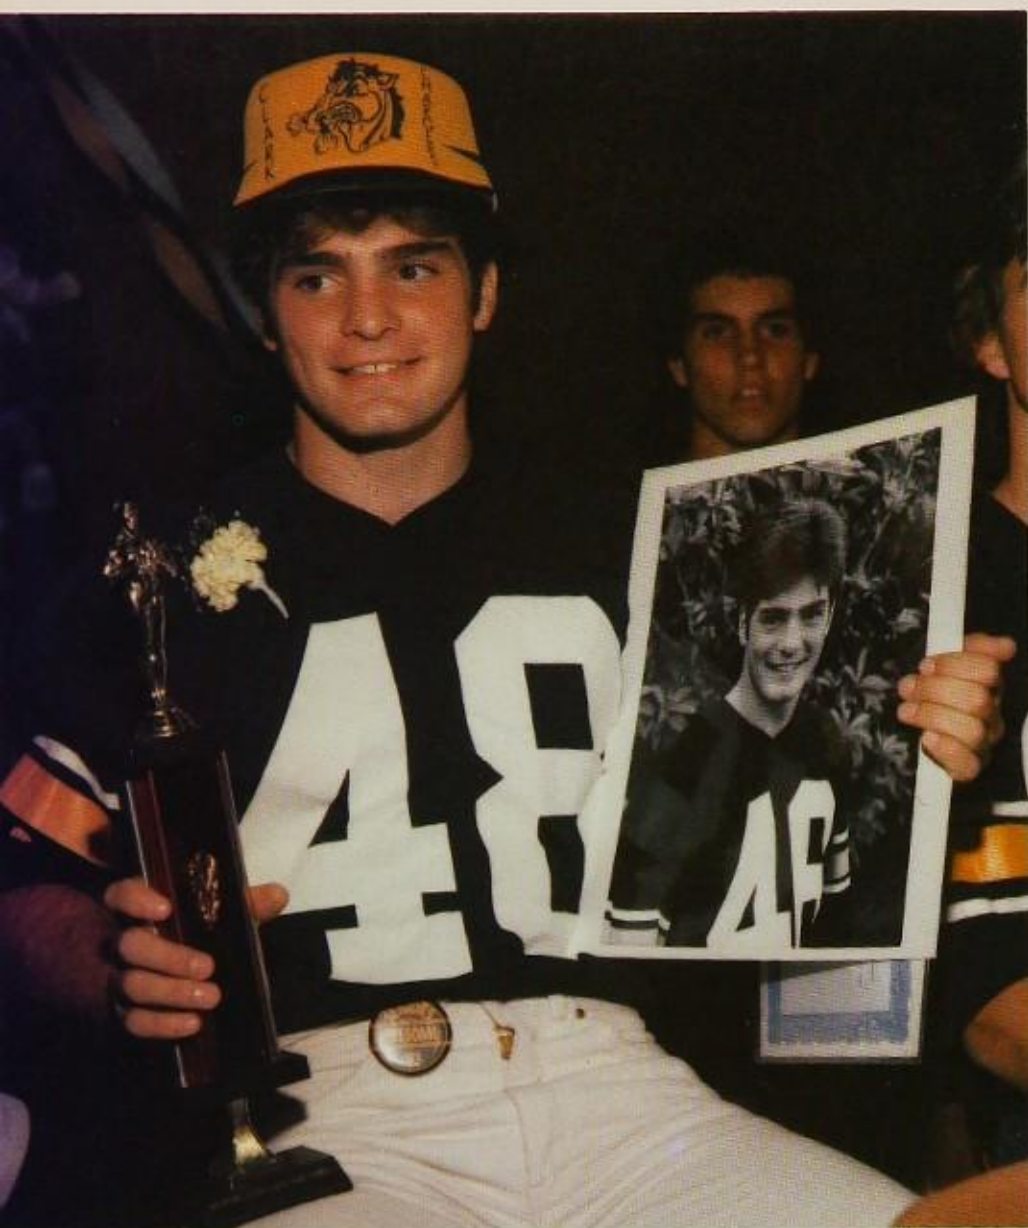

Many couples enjoyed the relaxing atmosphere of the Homecoming dance held at Caesars Palace.

The notorious Ripper brought back to life by Clark performers

The Clark Drama Department presented Bloody Jack, the story of Jack the Ripper by Tim Kelly, as their first production of the year. The play was presented on November 18, 19, and 21.

The entire play takes place in the parlor of Dr. Thaddeus Sargent's house, located in the Whitechapel district of London. The play takes place in 1888, and Jack the Ripper is still at large.

With a rebellious parlormaid, a thief for an order, and a cranky lady as the housekeeper, the house becomes full of suspicion. The Ripper is mysteriously shown only once. The story features Dr. Sargent, who runs the hospital in Whitechapel. After a realistic struggle with his future son-in-law, Stephen Barrows, the playwright finally reveals that Dr. Sargent is Bloody Jack.

Realistic gun shots and an intense strobe light added to the special effects to make the play a thrilling chiller.

Silver Turns to Gold

1931-1981

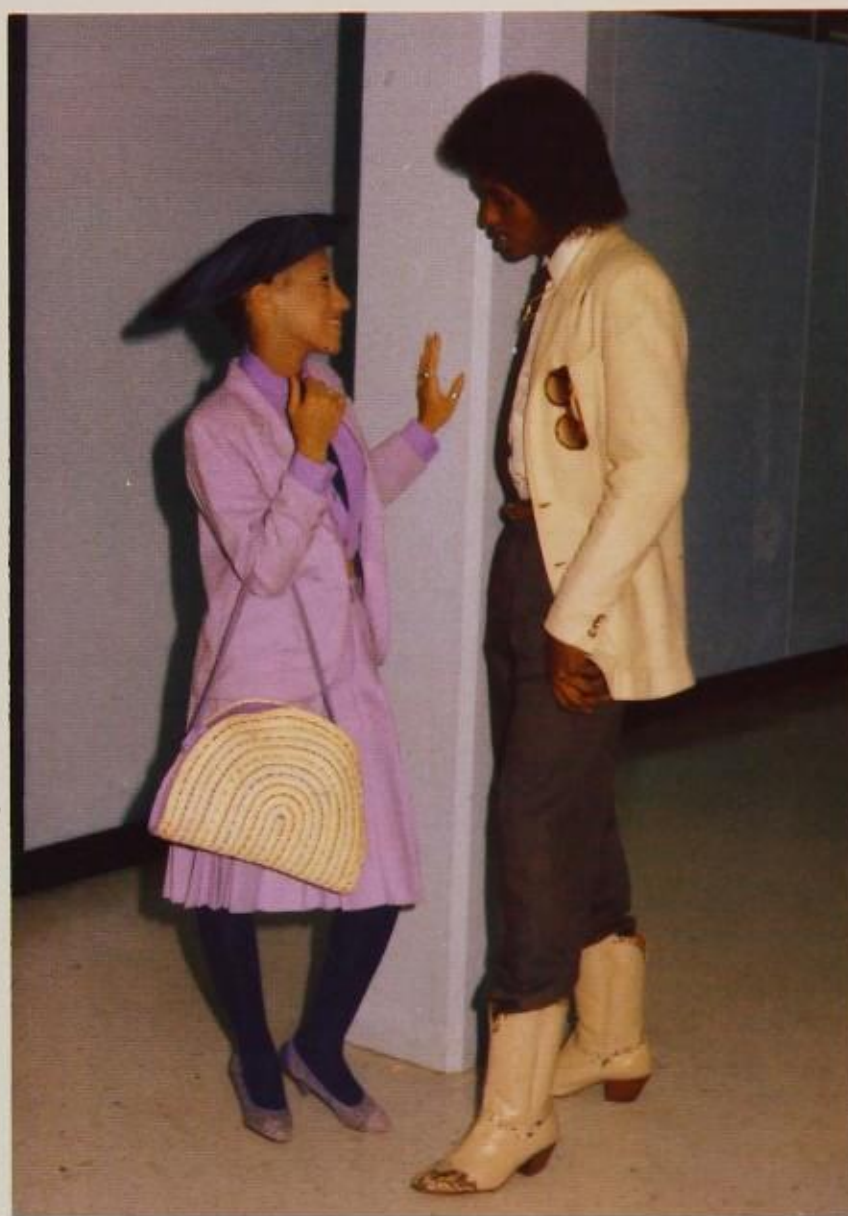

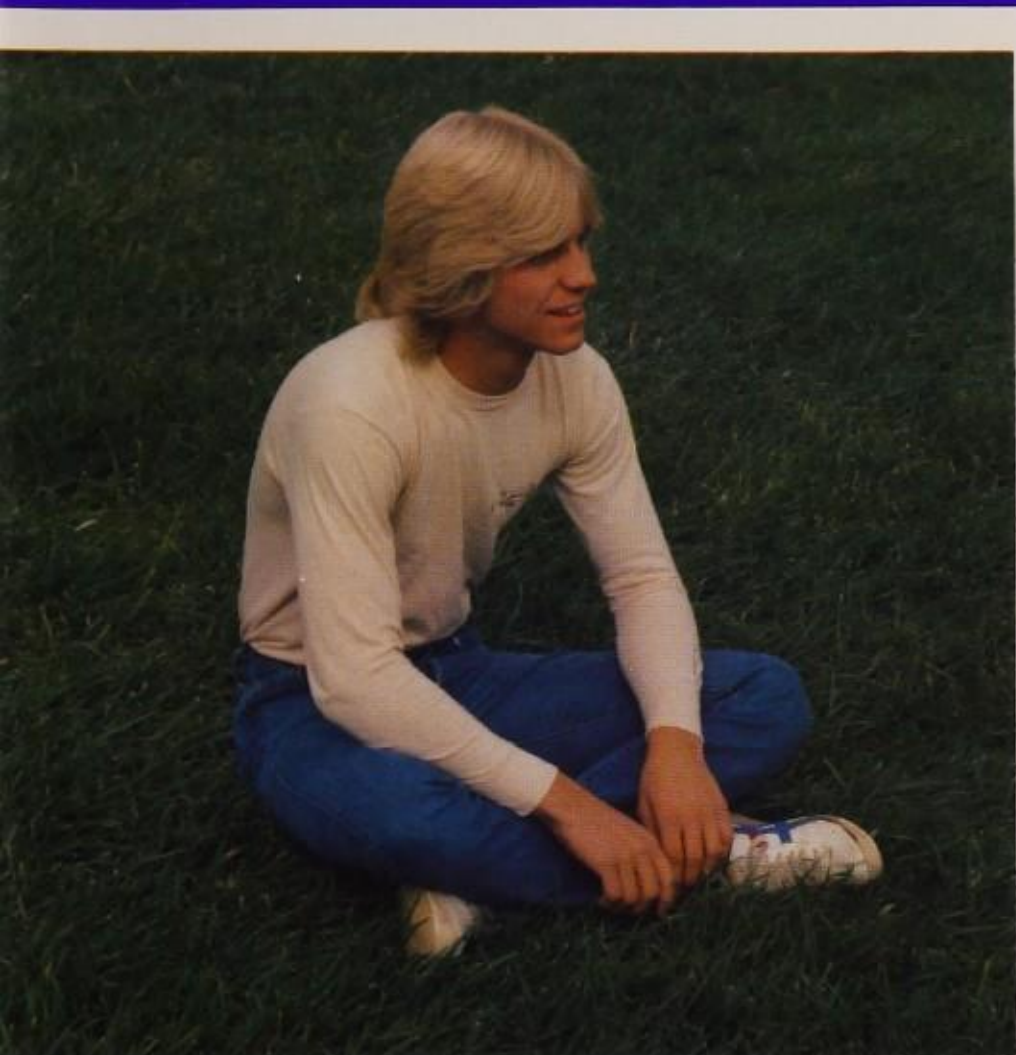

In 1981 the Silver State celebrated its half century of legalized gaming with the theme "Silver Turns to Gold."

In 1931 Assemblyman Phil Tobin, realizing that gaming existed everywhere but was untaxed, introduced the legislation which virtually created modern Nevada. Gaming became a huge financial success in the state; last year the dazzling casinos listed a taxable revenue of nearly 2.4 billion dollars.

Gaming has come out of the backrooms and into the posh resort parlors for Nevadans and the millions of visitors who have helped the Silver Turn to Gold.

Sadie Hawkins adds spice to dating roles with Dogpatch style

Providing girls with an opportunity of reversing traditional roles, the Sadie Hawkins dance, sponsored by the Senior Class, was held in November. The mythical event, created by Al Capp in his Lil' Abner comic strip, celebrates the occasion in which women of Dogpatch pursue their beau with the intent of marriage; thus Sadie Hawkins is a girls' reverse.

Once in the cafeteria, couples could be married in a traditional country ceremony performed by Mr. Ken Kucan as "Marryin' Sam."

Dressed in jeans and plaid flannel shirts, they enjoyed a light-hearted evening in a relaxed atmosphere. Tom Wideen and Tammy Tussey became Lil' Abner and Daisy Mae.

Yuletide festivities prepare the Chargers for December break

Clark High School celebrated the festive holiday season with innovative ideas and a variety of activities.

Executive Council designated a different costume and activity for each day of the week. Among the different days were the following: Ski Day, Christmas Character Day, Ornament-Tinsel Day, Present Day, and Red and Green Day. Activities included Bora Bag Guzzling, Gift Wrapping, and Cookie Decorating.

Christmas trees lined the main hall, providing both mood and fragrance courtesy of clubs who entered the Drill Team's Christmas Tree Lane. Entries ranged from the traditional beauty of velvet bows on the Honor Society tree to the stylized modernistic tree made from computer cards by FBLA. Trophies went to the Senior Class for Theme, Drama Club for People's Choice, and Publications Staffs for both Originality and Judges' Choice.

Friday was the week's highlight. The Drama Department hosted the annual Christmas scenes, entertaining audiences with a combination of serious and comic sketches. Following a Clark tradition, members of the Senior Class held the Child Haven party that included gifts and games for the small visitors, who were also honored guests at the Christmas assembly. This final event of the week featured all the performing groups and an appearance from Santa and Mrs. Claus.

Couples enjoy change with Girls' Reverse

"Just Once" was the theme of the annual Girls' Reverse dance sponsored by the Spanish Club.

Over 120 couples enjoyed the casual semi-formal dance that really seemed to break the tension after semester finals.

Students had plenty of room to dance, socialize, or just sit at the many tables present at the Space Center at the Sahara Hotel. The dance lasted from 8 until 11 pm.

Special decorations included transparent and silver helium-filled balloons tied to foil stars with red and white ribbons, creating a light-hearted mood for the pre-Valentine's Day event. Red hurricane lamps lighted each circular table to complete the decor.

The Spanish Club also sold corsages and boutonnieres along with long stemmed carnations, to students on the Friday before the dance.

TFAC hosts tribute for cultural heritage of Black Americans

Black History Week, held February 8-10, differed from previous years in that activities were condensed into three days instead of the traditional five. This year's theme was "The 80's and Beyond," and each day had its own individual theme and mystery person contest.

Starring off the week was "Heritage Day." Many students enjoyed listening to the views of Mr. Albert Crosby, from the Clark County Juvenile Court Services, and Ms. Patricia Jarman from the International Boxing Hall of Fame, as guest speakers of the day.

"Color Day" involved the traditional colors of the black movement (red, black, and green) with students having the opportunity to test their knowledge of their cultural background by playing the Black History Varsity Quiz.

The final day of Black History Week featured a festive evening event beginning with the play, "Martin Luther King — In Search of Freedom." A fashion show and musical entertainment brought enthusiastic response from the large audience, who waited expectantly for the evening's final event, the crowning of the Afro King and Queen.

Powder puff teams give a new dimension to the game of football

Sponsored by the Varsity Club, the annual powder puff football game saw two changes: the addition of junior and sophomore teams, and the re-scheduling in February instead of November. The seniors, Brad's Brewzers, were coached by Brad Chaddick; the juniors, J J's Jocks, by Jimmy Jack Yeoman; the sophomores, Rob's Renegades, by Rob Peccole.

The Brewzers and Renegades competed in the first game, a tight match of wits which was marked by numerous penalties. The Renegades, quarterbacked by Susan Frank, relied on a running game but were unable to penetrate the Brewzers' defense. With a final score of 0-0, the teams entered a sudden death play off in which Brewzer running back Michelle McDonald went in for a touchdown to end the game 6-0.

Two days later J J's Jocks took the field against the victorious seniors. Utilizing a passing game with a 5-2 defense, the Jocks attempted several scoring drives which failed. Brewzer Cathy De La Guerra galloped 32 yards for a touchdown, and McDonald ran in for the extra point. McDonald secured the score later when she swept left and then cut down the middle for a second TD. The game ended 13-0 with the championship title going to the seniors.

Season's second play asks probing questions

The second performance of the year by the Drama Department was Tribute, a story written by Bernard Slade. The play ran three nights — March 10, 11 and 13, — in Clark's Little Theater.

The play is entitled Tribute because that is exactly what it is. The storyline is based on a man full of jokes and laughter, Scottie Templeron, who, unfortunately, is dying. Scottie's best friend, Lou Daniels, and all of his other friends pay a tribute to this lively man.

In his last days, Scottie is determined to keep up with his friends by laughing and joking around. Jud, Scottie's son from a former marriage, is very shy and insecure; he expresses his hatred for his father. However, when he realizes Scottie's impending death, Jud begins the process of growing up.

Tribute was a recent movie starring Jack Lemmon and Robby Benson. The school's version of Tribute was directed by Ms. Carrol Statom, with Eric Whitaker and Stormie Reed assisting her.

Clark students earn honors, scholarships

Many Clark seniors earned honors as well as various scholarships for their academic and extracurricular activities. School winners were chosen for various student competitions including Century III, Soroptimist, Senate Youth Leadership, Gemco, Sun Youth Forum, DAR Good Citizen, and NMSQT.

Jennifer Frank was chosen as the school winner for both the Century III and Soroptimist competitions. In both she was judged on her extracurricular activities and her ability to write a concise, relevant essay.

Joanna Kishner represented Clark in the Senate Youth Leadership Program. She was also judged on her extracurricular involvements and her writing ability.

The school's Gemco representatives were Randy Colquitt and Joanna Kishner. They were judged on their ability to respond intelligently to one current event question.

Randy Colquitt and Artis Williams were selected as finalists at the annual Sun Youth Forum. As finalists, both winners wrote summaries of their group for the Las Vegas Sun newspaper.

Karen Goodall became Clark's DAR Good Citizen after writing an essay and being evaluated on academic and extracurricular activities. Brett Roehr became Clark's entry in the Voice of Democracy speech contest.

Michelle Miller was the only 1982 Clark senior to be named a National Merit Scholarship semi-finalist. She earned the honor by obtaining superior scores on the PSAT exam.

NHS students donate ingenuity, time, effort to community projects

Stressing involvement in both the community and the school, the 1981-82 Honor Society worked continuously throughout the year. The honor students began by helping with registration and assisting with the hearing and vision tests for the sophomores. They also sponsored the annual blood drive to aid the Nevada Blood Services; in this event Clark students donated 100 units. Individual Honor Society students also did various service projects for non-profit organizations. During the holidays, NHS members made Christmas baskets for the patients of the Charleston Convalescent Home where they had refreshments, sang Christmas carols and decorated a tree for the patients.

In order to become eligible for the National Honor Society, students must be involved with school and community affairs, have good citizenship, and maintain a 3.5 grade point average.

Girls', Boys' State help young leaders

Clark again participated in the foreign exchange program. The purpose of this program is to allow other countries to experience American culture, education, and way of life. The visiting students were Rogelia Cuellar from Bolivia, Claudia Garruti from Brazil, Tomas Janson from Sweden, David Mayes from England, Hiroko Nishimura from Japan, Sari Wikstrom from Finland, and Paisal Wipawin from Thailand. David Mayes was the only junior; the rest were seniors.

The students were sponsored by American Field Service, World Experience, Rotary International, Youth Exchange Service, and Youth for Understanding. They lived with Las Vegas families, most of whom had students attending Clark.

Nine juniors had the honor of representing Clark at Nevada Boys' and Girls' State in June of 1981. The annual workshops in state and local government, sponsored by the American Legion and Legion Auxiliary, drew students from throughout the state. Participants engaged in a mock government exercise which simulated the working of state, county, and community politics.

CHS arts magazine brings forth minds with much creativity

Footsteps was this year's name for the student arts magazine. The main contributors to this magazine were Ms. Kay McGarvey's third hour creative writing class. Items considered for publication included poetry, prose, short stories, and drawings. Students from the creative writing class formed the magazine staff, who wrote, edited, and compiled most of the work published. However, the selected contributions were the work of students with literary and artistic talents throughout the school.

Varsity Quiz Team demonstrates talents

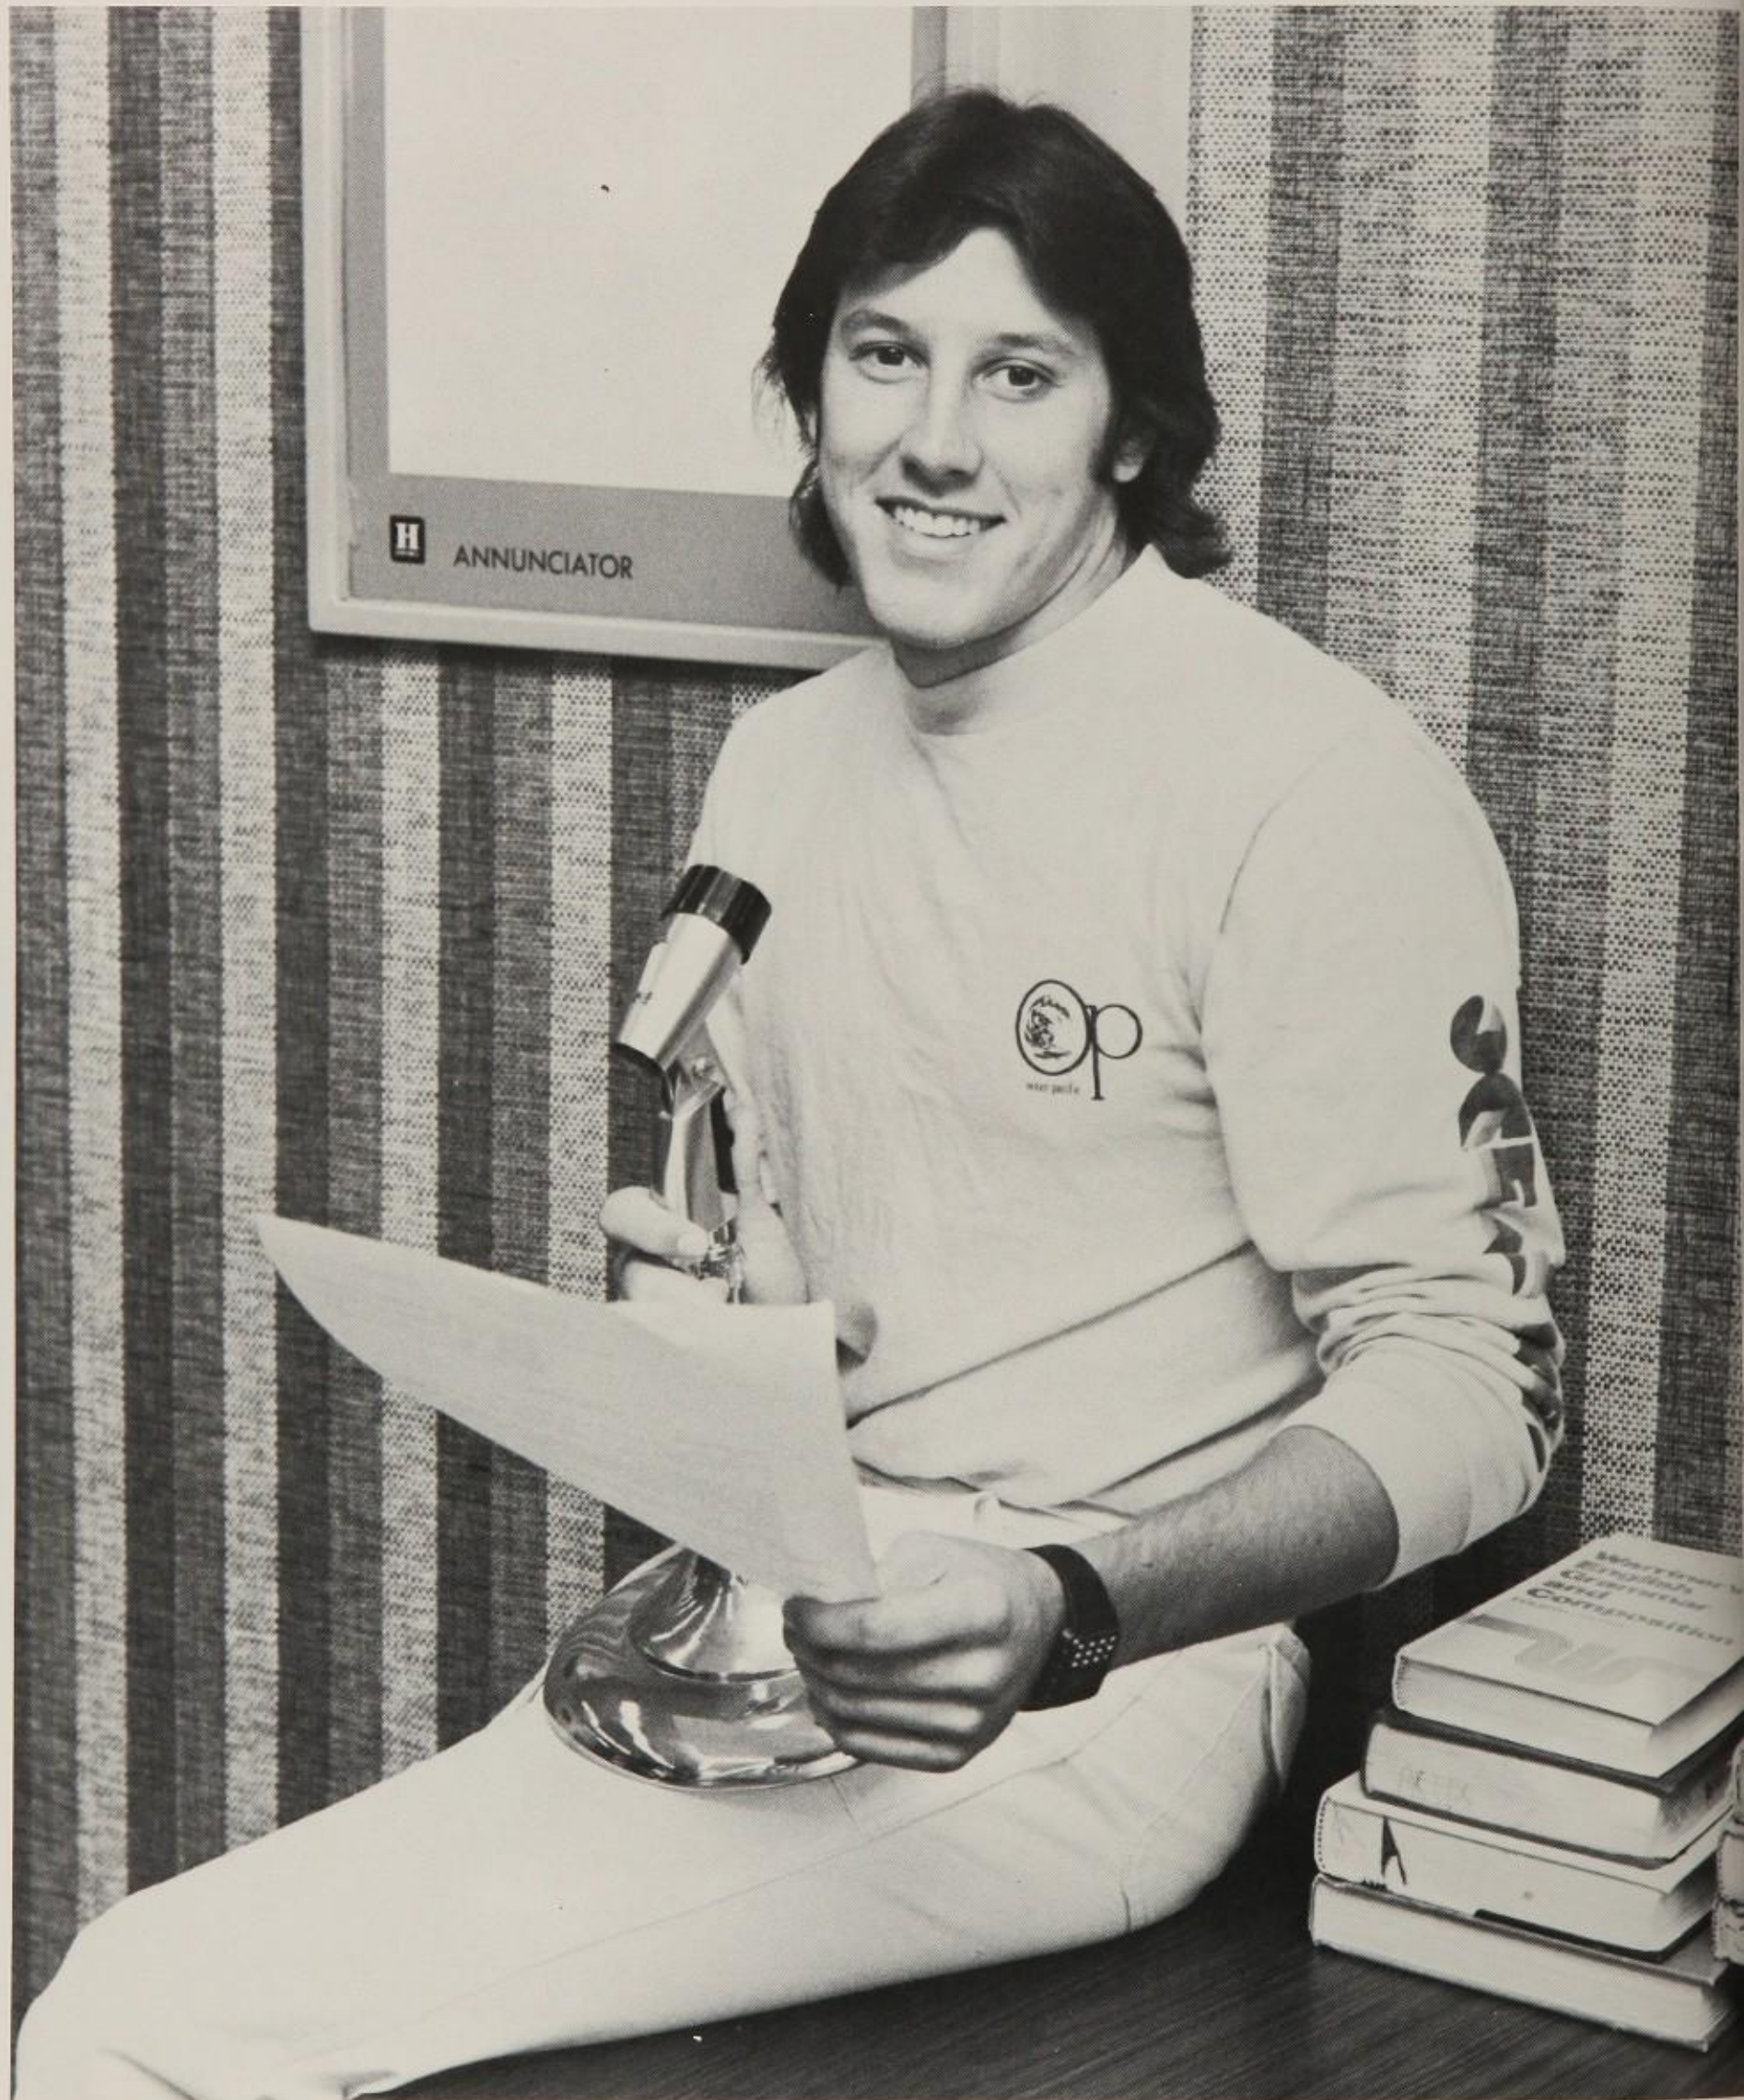

The Varsity Quiz team consisted of about 25 members who needed quick recall and in depth knowledge of all areas of study to play the game successfully.

The intellectual competition featured questions which included all academic disciplines, contemporary sports and fashions, and current events. The team practiced for one hour after school on Tuesdays and Thursdays in preparation for their games. Three of the games were televised on channel three, and three other games were non-televised and played after school with teams from other Clark County schools.

Ashley's leadership makes the school year a success

Ashley Abdo, Student Body President

'82 council members set, reach, surpass their difficult goals

The Executive Council, led by Ashley Abdo as president, had many responsibilities this year. They conducted all activities for Homecoming and Christmas, planned assemblies, and approved activities proposed by other groups. Meetings were held in the morning on the first day of the week.

The Executive Council officers were Ashley Abdo as president, Brad Chaddick as vice president, Catherine Cortez as secretary, and Joanna Kishner as treasurer. In preparation for the year some members represented Clark High in Elko, Nevada, at the Nevada Association of Student Councils and in Phoenix, Arizona, at the National Association of Student Councils.

Student Senate helps with school elections

Student Senate is an auxiliary group in the school which helps the executive council run Clark High. The Senate was made up of eleven members ranging from sophomores to seniors. The members were Denise Albert, David Begor, Ann Fleck, Laura Gilman, Jeff Howard, Karen Kramer, Joe Leberski, Lisa LePome, Phyllis Seffel, David Straus, and Derick Wickliffe. All the members were appointed and were advised by Mrs. Laura Fesenmeyer, assistant principal for student activities. Mrs. Fesenmeyer met with the Senate two Wednesdays a month to discuss the revision of the school constitution for the following years at Clark. The Senate also assisted the rest of the student governments to run and help out during elections.

Charger Varsity Club organizes initiation, coaches powder puff

The 1982 Lettermen's Club made a few changes for the benefit of the club. For starters they tried to produce more powderpuff football fans by having twice as many teams; with the addition of junior and sophomore teams the event drew wider support from the school. The club also changed the date of the new members initiation.

Officers were Rob Peccole, president; Brad Chad-dick, vice-president; Tom Wideen, secretary and treasurer; and Steve Justice, sergeant-at-arms. Their advisors were Coach John Nelson and Coach Dave Castro. The requirement for membership in the club was lettering in a varsity sport.

Charger, Cavalcade led by senior editors

Equipped with journalism experience and interest dating back to junior high school, six seniors assumed leadership positions in Clark's publication program.

Editing the CAVALCADE became a major part of the school year for Ann Fleck, Jenny Frank, and Joanna Kishner. The three shared equally in the conception, design, and production of the 1982 book. Only after several months of planning did they formulate the idea of Processions as the unifying theme. They then organized and coordinated all aspects of production: page allotments, graphic techniques, picture schedules, and budget requirements.

Speaking for students was the goal of Arlyn King, CHARGER editor-in-chief, and co-editors Karen Goodall and Brett Roehr. Following the tradition of Clark's previous award-winning newspaper editors, the three tackled school and community problems in their editorial comments; they also sought to feature individuals who made unique contributions to life at Clark. Finally, they read and edited every word which appeared in the ten issues of the newspaper.

Recording memories is primary objective for yearbook staff

The Cavalcade staff this year had only 20 students who were divided into groups and assigned sections of the yearbook. Each member took responsibility for drawing layouts, writing copy and selecting pictures for the pages they had to complete. In addition, staff members sold the advertising needed to provide the book's financial support.

There were three major deadlines to meet. For each deadline — December, January, and March — one-third of the book had to be completed.

Excluding the portraits, the three staff photographers took most of the pictures in the book; they shot and printed the hundreds of pictures that went through the darkroom.

Newspaper staffers use journalistic skills to record CHS life

The 1981-82 newspaper staff consisted of three editors and 18 staff members. All staff members had important jobs, each contributing ideas for stories that they thought would interest students at Clark. The members of the staff also designed layouts, sold advertising, and wrote all copy. In addition to covering school news events and featuring individual personalities, the staff also tackled school and community problems with editorials which considered topics like the teenager-police confrontation at Hyde Park, teacher transfer policies and the effects of reduction in the federally subsidized lunch program.

Community support, cultural awareness are TFAC's goals

TFAC, which stands for Together for a Change, was active in a variety of ways during the 1981-82 school year. As a community service, the group donated food baskets for needy families for Thanksgiving. TFAC group members sponsored a dance after a basketball game at the beginning of the season. Members also planned for two academic and one service scholarship awarded by the group. The advisors were Mrs. Priscilla Adams, Mr. Roy Ware, and Mr. Doug Garner.

The Spirit Group consisted of six dancers who performed at the Homecoming and Christmas assemblies and at various basketball games. Members also helped with the TFAC dance in December. They had various fund raisers throughout the year, some of which were bake sales and candy sales. The group was advised by Mr. Doug Garner and co-advised by Mr. Raul Medrano.

Varsity cheerleaders promote enthusiasm while leading chants

The varsity cheerleaders supported Clark in a very enthusiastic way by performing for Clark's varsity teams. There were three returning girls and one who moved up from JV cheerleading. The rest of the girls were also cheerleaders previously. In addition to game appearances, they routinely performed at assemblies. They earned money for camp and new uniforms from bake sales and car washes.

The cheerleaders attended summer camp at Santa Barbara where they earned many superior ribbons for their group and individual performances as well as a spirit stick. They learned new cheers and chants to perform.

The squad was advised by Mrs. Brenda Crosby. The head cheerleader for this year was Renae Barraza.

The JV cheerleaders supported sophomore teams at the JV football games and JV basketball games. Additional performances included assemblies and the Homecoming game. The JV cheerleaders attended camp in Santa Barbara and brought home a superior trophy for their individual ribbons and home cheer. They also received a spirit stick, which they share with the varsity cheerleaders and the songleaders.

All of the cheerleaders were veterans from Hyde Park, Cashman and Kenny Guinn Junior High. They were advised by Mrs. Brenda Crosby. The leader of the group was Tammy Schafer.

The squad was all new except for returning seniors Jamie Shoughro and Nadine Kuhn; even though they were a new squad, they were all experienced dancers.

The group earned money for camp and uniforms from car washes and a songleading clinic held in the Spring.

The songleaders attended a July camp in Santa Barbara, where they received various ribbons for their performances in individual competition and a spirit stick. At camp they learned many routines that they used for sideline dances at the games.

The group was advised by Mrs. Brenda Crosby. Members expressed appreciation for help from head songleader Jamie Shoughro.

Drill team added new excitement to the marching band this year with the addition of pompons. This decision was made by the advisor, Mrs. Peggy Lair, co-captains Shelly Webb and Shaun Stout, and the rest of the Cavaliers. They thought the pompons would add new spice to the marching band and to their routines during basketball games and assemblies.

The 1981-82 Cavaliers had a very successful year. During the summer they attended and competed at a camp in Santa Barbara. They also accompanied the band to Chaffey, California, for a marching competition. The financing for the various trips was done with several car washes and other fund raisers.

Charger flagtwirlers, full of enthusiasm, show school's spirit

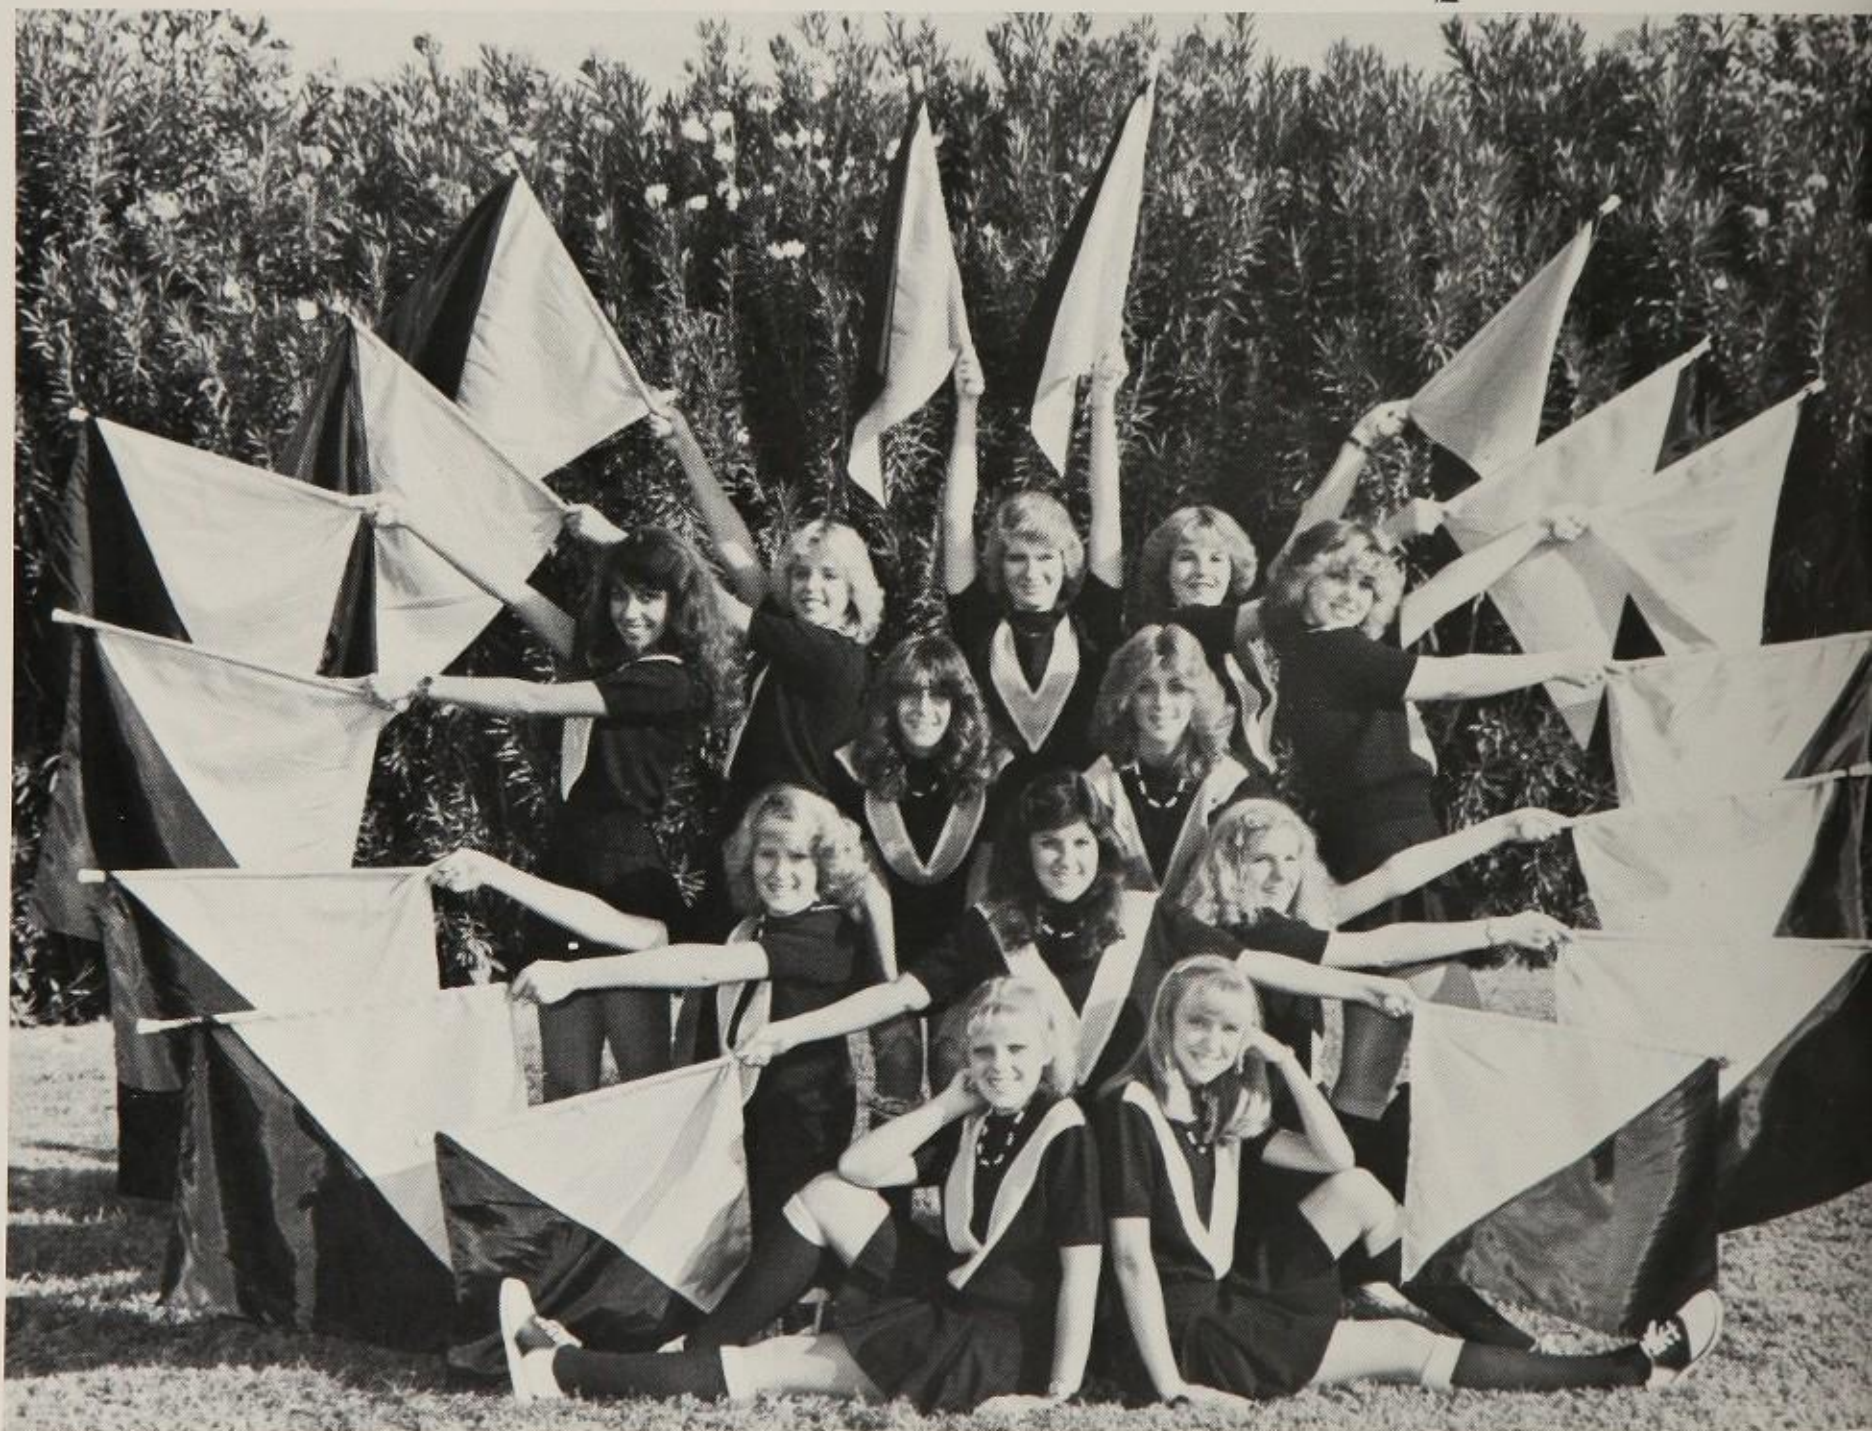

The 1981-1982 flagtwirlers consisted of eleven new members and one returning member, captain Kathy Rhodes. Together, they helped provide Clark with entertainment during many assemblies and games. This year the squad attended camp in Santa Barbara, California, where they learned many routines, made new friends, and received several ribbons.

With the help of their advisor, Miss Theresa Conerly, the group held several fund-raising events such as bake sales and car washes. The money raised went to help purchase new uniforms for this year's Homecoming assembly.

In October, the group attended the Chaffey Tournament of Bands in Ontario, California, where they competed successfully with the CHS Band. They also traveled to Phoenix, Arizona, in December for a competition in the Fiesta Bowl.

1981-82 Tall Flags march with accuracy, help to support band

Many early morning marches with the Million Dollar Band helped to prepare the 1981-1982 Tall Flags for their performances. The 14-member squad, with three veteran members, was led by captain Sonia Jordan and co-captain Nickie Davis.

The squad attended camp in Long Beach, California, last summer. They accompanied the band on many competition trips. On October 31, they traveled to Ontario, California, and along with the band received a superior trophy in the Chaffey Tournament of Bands. Another major performance was the Fiesta Bowl marching competition in Phoenix, Arizona, in December. This year's advisor was Miss Denice Mitchell.

Under the direction of Mr. William F. McMosley, the Million Dollar Marching Band provided half-time entertainment during all home games. In preparation for their shows, the marching band began practice early in August; when school started they practiced two hours daily from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m.

The marching band along with the drill team, tall flags, and short flags executed a 45-minute concert during the annual Fiesta Bowl competition in Phoenix, Arizona, during the week of December 11. Bandsmen also made numerous appearances at conventions and special events in the community throughout the year, among them the Sands Hotel re-opening celebration in January.

The end of the marching season brought a shift in emphasis for the group as members prepared for concert and participation in the annual Clark County Music Festival. At the same time, the jazz band moved into high gear in an anticipation of the Reno International Jazz Festival.

Vocal ensembles add musical enchantment to all performances

The Clark High School choral program consists of four groups; Girls' Glee, Mixed Choir, Madrigals, and Counterpoint.

The first two, Girls' Glee and Mixed Choir, performed concerts throughout the year, including a Christmas Concert and Spring Concert. Thirteen vocal music students were selected by audition to participate in the Clark County Honor Choir, which performed on November 24.

The Madrigals, dressed in Elizabethan costumes, provided entertainment along with Counterpoint, Clark's rock group, at the Athletic Directors Conference at Caesars Palace on December 7. Both groups featured musicians with considerable talent and experience. Membership came after auditions. Counterpoint highlighted their year by staging a one month performing tour of American Military Bases in Germany, in the summer of 1981.

The groups were directed by Mrs. Marcia Neel. This year Mr. Mark Wieg was a student teacher.

Soccer Bunnies help kickers during season

The Soccer Bunnies for 1981-82 consisted of 18 people who worked throughout the soccer season trying to build interest in the sport. They made signs for every game telling the time and place.

The Soccer Bunnies were important to the soccer team, keeping and retrieving games balls while also supplying oranges and gum for the players, in addition to cheering.

Members earned money from bake sales and Christmas stockings in December. The money went for oranges and gum for the players, letters for club members, and a banquet at the end of the season.

The Soccer Bunnies were chosen on the basis of grades, past participation in school activities, and a final interview. The Soccer Bunnies were advised by Mrs. Nancy Bandy, and the president for this year was Diane Bordenave.

CHS Wrestlerettes keep score and time, provide enthusiasm

The Wrestlerettes held strong with 19 members this year. They were led by president Joanna Kishner, vice president Christi Bundren, secretary Geri Green, treasurer Lori Whitehead, and historian Sheila Haworth. Their advisor was Mr. Stephen Marafino.

The Wrestlerettes worked all summer and throughout the school year raising money to purchase new uniforms and to finance their annual trip with the wrestlers to Reno, Nevada for the state meet.

During wrestling season the members were responsible for such things as keeping the official time, scorekeeping, and cheering for the team. Membership in Wrestlerettes was based on grades, school activity participation, and teacher recommendations. The girls were required to attend all wrestling matches and tournaments, including zone and state competitions.

French Club enjoys variety of projects

The 1981-82 French Club consisted of approximately 35 members, who were introduced to the French culture without being enrolled in a French class. The club held its installation dinner at Cafe Michel. Another traditional highlight was their Christmas luncheon in December, when each student in the club prepared a specialty dish. The assortment of foods was served buffet styled in the home economics room.

"Embrasse-moi" and "L'enfant terrible" were just two of the logos imprinted on the tee shirts the group sold to raise money.

Hispanic Club helps to unite ethnic groups

The Hispanic Club is a cultural program to unite the various ethnic groups of the student body into one fellowship. This year the club was made up of students with Spanish, Mexican, Cuban, and Puerto Rican Heritage. The members elected a king and queen who made a television appearance on Channel 3 along with the kings and queens from other schools in observance of Hispanic Week, December 7-11.

At the beginning of the school year, the Hispanic Club sponsored a candy sale. Every bar gave the buyer a chance to win prizes such as dinner for two and movie passes.

'81-'82 Spanish Club takes special interest in Mexican culture

The CHS Spanish Club was very active this year. The membership was quite large, numbering about 60. The president was Joanna Kishner, vice president was Stephanie Pettit, and the secretary was Marianne Jaffe. Their advisor again this year was Mr. Gordon Hale.

The Spanish Club sponsored several events, one of which was the annual Ugly Man contest during Homecoming week. There were two contestants from each grade, and students cast their votes by putting money in one of the contestant's buckets. The winner of this contest was senior Sebastian Balle.

Spanish Club again sponsored the annual Girls' Reverse Dance on Saturday, February 6, at the Sahara Hotel. They also staged their annual Cinco de Mayo trip to different locations in Southern California. The Spanish luncheon was held in October. Each student prepared food from his own cultural background as well as traditional Spanish food. It was a chance for participants to learn about different cultures and sample new foods.

The group also entered their traditional tree in Christmas Tree Lane, an event which they won last year. A Christmas candy sale was held to raise money for these different activities.

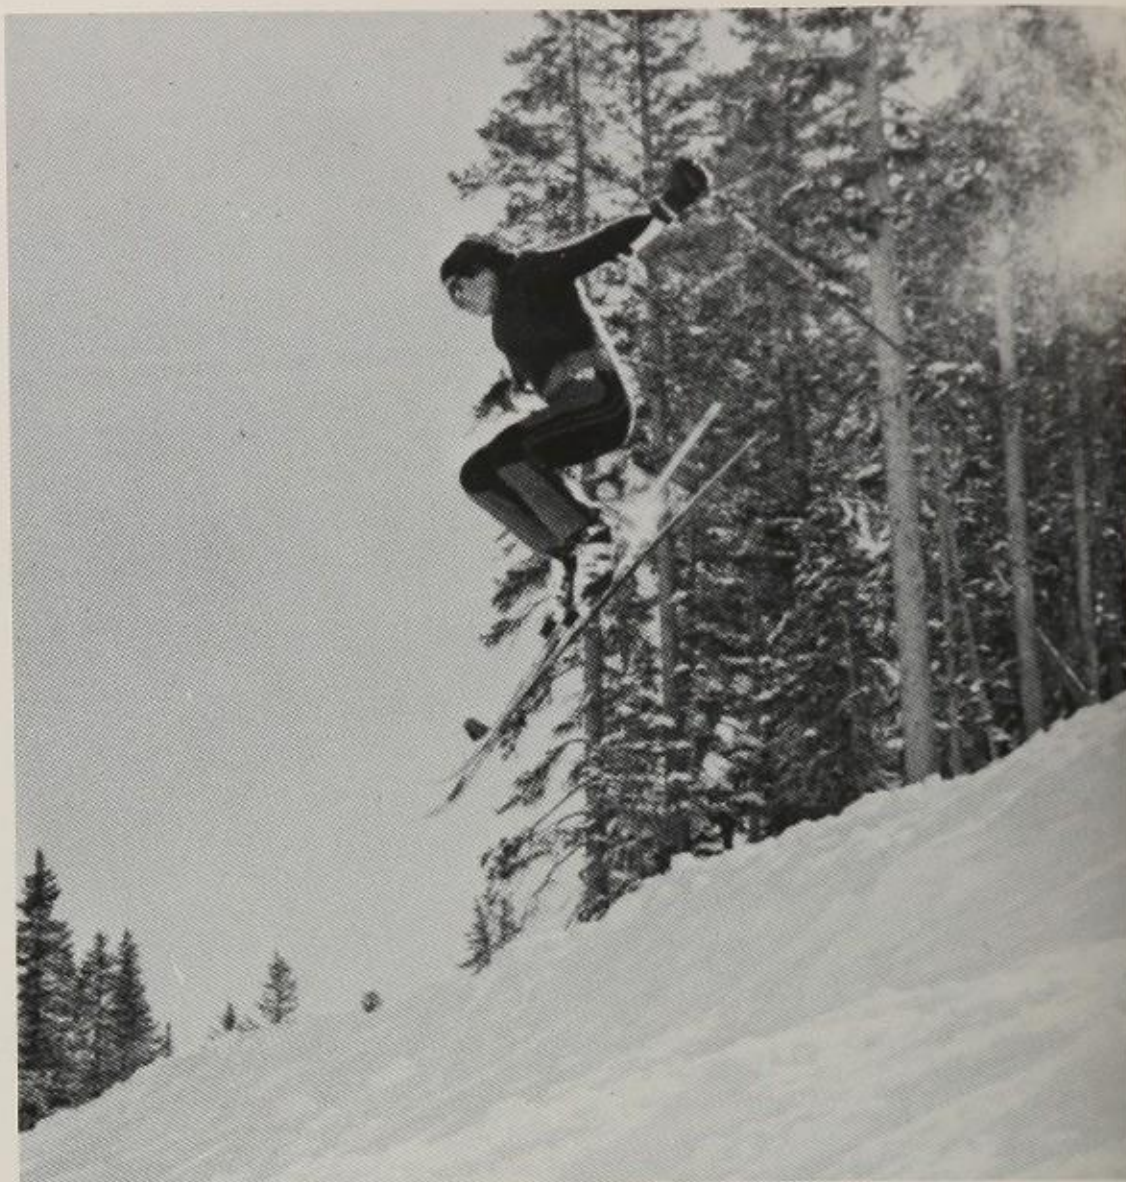

Ski Club parallels, slaloms and jumps through the season

If all Clark skiers wanted for Christmas was snow, they got their wish. After a rather dry fall, 1981 finished with a final week of wintry weather which brought heavy snowfalls throughout the West. January continued to produce excellent ski conditions. The group enjoyed weekend trips to Brain Head and Mr. Holly.

Unlike many school groups, Ski Club existed for the pleasure and convenience of its members, allowing them to pool resources for transportation and accommodations. Fund raisers and business meetings were kept to a minimum.

Mr. Raul Medrano took over the position as advisor from Mrs. LaRen Fleming and Mr. Bill Berthold, who had sponsored the group for many years. Mrs. Fleming continued to help with the group, however.

CHS student actors study art of drama, provide entertainment

The 1981-82 Drama Club scheduled many activities throughout the year. Fund-raising activities such as bake sales and Christmas carnation sales were the source of funds for the group's projects. Members of the group performed in many tournaments throughout the school year. The club went to a tournament in Reno and hosted one in January. They also enjoyed several out-of-town excursions to see plays. The club presented the annual Christmas and Spring scenes to the delight of the Clark audiences.

To end the year, the annual spring banquet brought the group members together for special awards which were given for Best Actor, Best Actress, Best Supporting Actor, Best Supporting Actress, and the Most Improved. Ms. Carrol Statom was the advisor.

Dragonslayers use creative imagination for fantasy games

One club at Clark, which met twice a week, allowed members to act out their fantasies in a game called Dungeons and Dragons.

The Dragonslayers, as members called themselves, use oddly shaped dice and rulebooks containing tables and charts as their equipment. They portray characters who come in contact with beasts or characters which earn gold. They experience these encounters while traveling through the dungeon, and their survival and success rely on the roll of the dice. In the game no player actually wins, but the amount of gold collected determines his success. According to players, it is a very enjoyable and exciting game because the players are allowed to play out their fantasies in their characters.

Aggressive leaders practice techniques developed by FBLA

Future Business Leaders of America, referred to as FBLA, is a club that helps to prepare members for the future in such professions as communications, mathematics, accounting, computers, and office machines. They do this by taking educational tours to such businesses as Nevada Archtronics, a CPA office, Centel Computer Facilities, CCSD Computer Facilities, and the Department of Aviation.

The club consisted of over 106 members who were led by Sherri Rogge as president, Derick Wickliffe as vice president, Kim Lassila as secretary, and Liz McBride as treasurer. The group conducted fund raisers such as a candy sale, and they also set up competitions with the help of Mrs. Larson, their advisor.

DECA encourages future businessmen

The Clark High School chapter of Distributive Education Clubs of America, or DECA as it is better known, is just one of many school chapters that participates in this nation wide program. The purpose of DECA is to develop worthwhile skills in advertising, distribution, merchandising, job interviews, cash register procedures, sales and management in the business world.

The class, which was instructed by Mr. James Hoffman, focused on giving students the opportunity to experience the many activities involved in the working world. Students could earn school credits through DECA by enrolling in work experience class and then by working a minimum of 15 hours a week in an after-school job.

DECA held many activities throughout the year. The first of these events was Career Day in October. Different employers from Las Vegas businesses came to Clark to encourage interest in jobs. The Western Regional Conference was held in November at the Marina Hotel. Thirteen Western states participated in the conference, and there were about 2,000 in attendance. In January, the group sponsored a Dance-a-Thon to benefit the March of Dimes. An employer-employee banquet in February helped to explain the purpose of DECA to the employers. Finally, the State Conference Competition was held in March; contests included thirteen different areas of business.

DECA held traditional breakfast meetings once a month. These meetings provided a chance for members and officers to meet and discuss important affairs in the club.

1981-82 season first for Coach Trautwein

The 81-82 varsity football team started out the season by winning their first five consecutive non-conference games. However, the team met their first defeat when challenged by a tough Bonanza team. This game was followed by another heartbreaking defeat against Gorman on Clark's Homecoming. After these two major games, all hopes of winning the Sunset Division title were destroyed. The following games against Valley and Chaparral were shut-outs, ending the season on a sad note.

The team finished with a 5-4 record, going without a loss for five games. The season opener was a thriller, as the Chargers managed to squeak out a 29-27 win over Zone Champions, Western High School. In the second game, Clark defeated a winless Basic team 14-6. Both of Clark's touchdowns were made by senior running back Rob Foresta.

The Chargers easily overcame the Eldorado Sundevils, 17-7, in the first home game of the season. Greg Peeples took the opening kick-off and ran 85 yards to give the Chargers an immediate head start. Brad Chaddick made a touchdown when he pounced on a loose ball in the end zone. This goal, along with Andre Vinson's 35-yard field goal, made up the team's 17 points.

The team continued their winning streak with a 10-9 victory over Rancho. Junior Mark Dudenake and senior kicker Andre Vinson were the scorers of the game, but a strong defense kept Rancho from gaining that one crucial point. The following week, Las Vegas High School also felt the effects of the Chargers' tough defense. Unable to make a point, Las Vegas went to the showers with a 22-0 loss.

The first conference game proved to be the Chargers' first loss of the season. Bonanza took command in the second quarter, and the Chargers were never able to take the lead from the Bengals. The game ended with a score of 6-25, marking Bonanza's first time to defeat Clark. On the following Homecoming Friday, Gorman cleaned up with a 9-28 victory and eliminated Clark from the fight for the Sunset Division title. The final two games of the season were heartbreaking to fans and players. Clark, unable to score, fell to Chaparral 0-17 at Collis Stadium. An identical situation arose against Valley in the last game of the season, when a 0-27 loss dropped Clark's record to 0-4 in conference play.

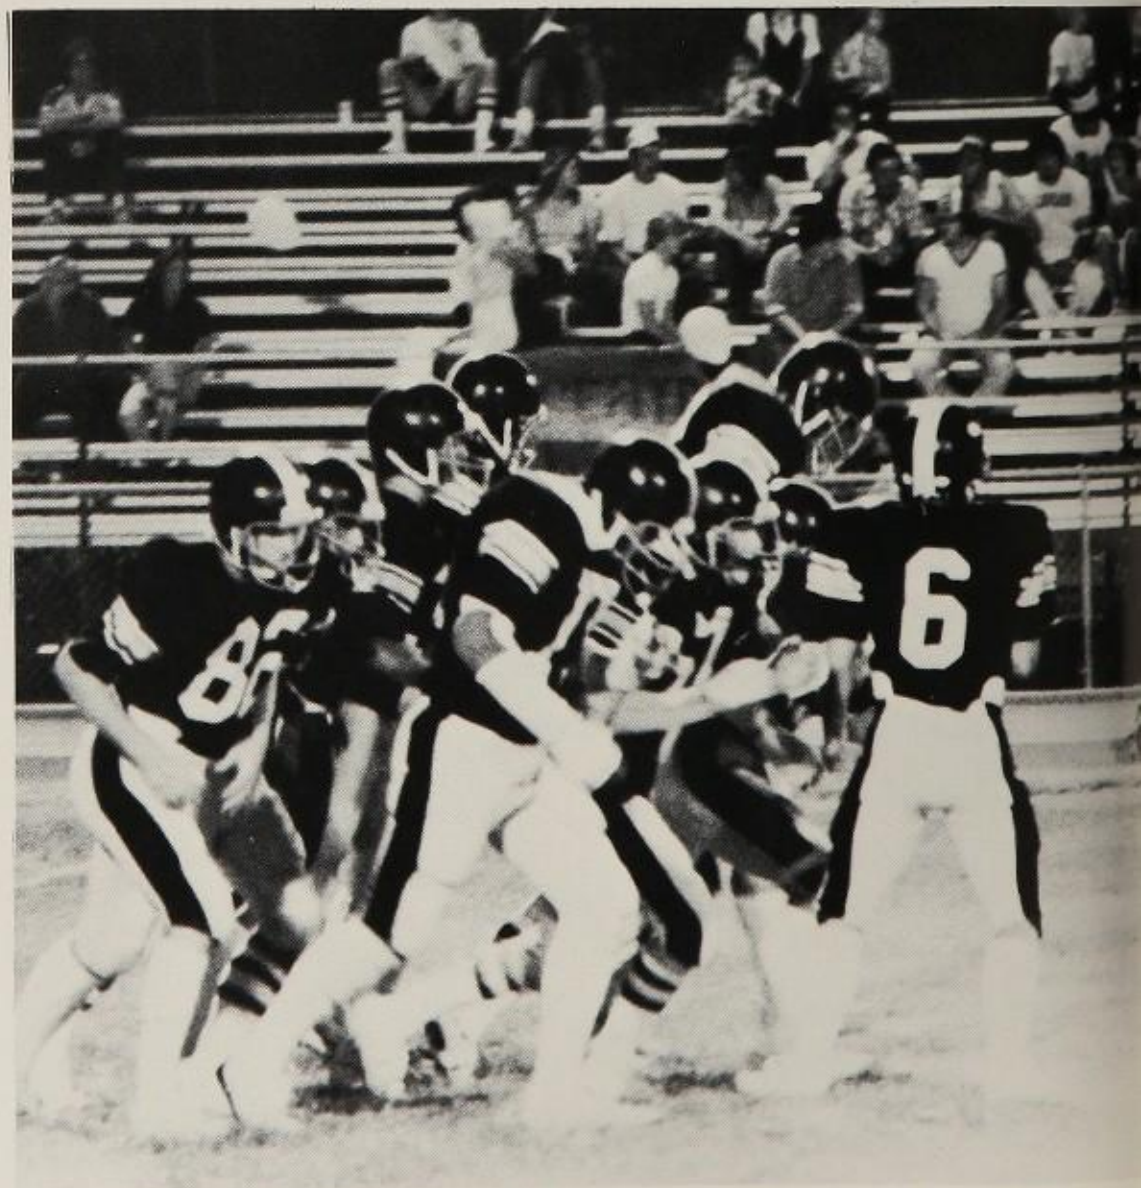

This year was head coach Richard Trautwein's first year at Clark High School. Coming from a winless Basic High, Trautwein said it was great going 5-0, but he was somewhat disappointed with the outcome of the season. Trautwein commented on Kenny Clark's performance throughout the season and stated that he was the mainstay for the defensive line. He also said Mike Dexter was the most improved player on the team. A quality of the team that the coach mentioned was their ability to keep their composure when things got rough.

This year Trautwein switched the offensive formation from Clark's traditional veer to a T formation. This helped to improve running. Coach Trautwein summed up, "It was great coaching this year. The kids really wanted to learn and play."

Young, inexperienced junior varsity team has difficult season

Lack of experience proved to be the major setback of this year's junior varsity football squad. Head Coach Dave Castro commented that the team's 2-7 record did not present an accurate picture of the team's ability.

Although there was no one outstanding player, Chris Lea and Ezell Wiley were consistently strong. Donny Mayhall who later was moved up to varsity, showed leadership abilities as quarterback. Marvin Davis, Steve Laman, and Frank Carlos proved to be the most improved.

After mentioning these specific team members, Coach Castro stressed that their best quality was their togetherness as a team and that all of the members were talented. Summing up, Coach Castro expressed his optimistic view for next year's varsity team. He also stated that he saw a future state championship team in the making.

'81 boys' tennis team takes second in zone

The Conference play this year was extremely close for the boys' tennis team. The top competitors were Clark, Valley and Chaparral. Although Valley was favored to sweep the season, Clark defeated them by a close score of 16-12.

The entire season rested upon the outcome of the Clark-Chaparral match, which was the last game of the season. The Chargers made their bid for the number one spot, but just missed with a score of 13-15. This was a repetition of last year's season, when the boys' team lost to Chaparral and finished second in zone.

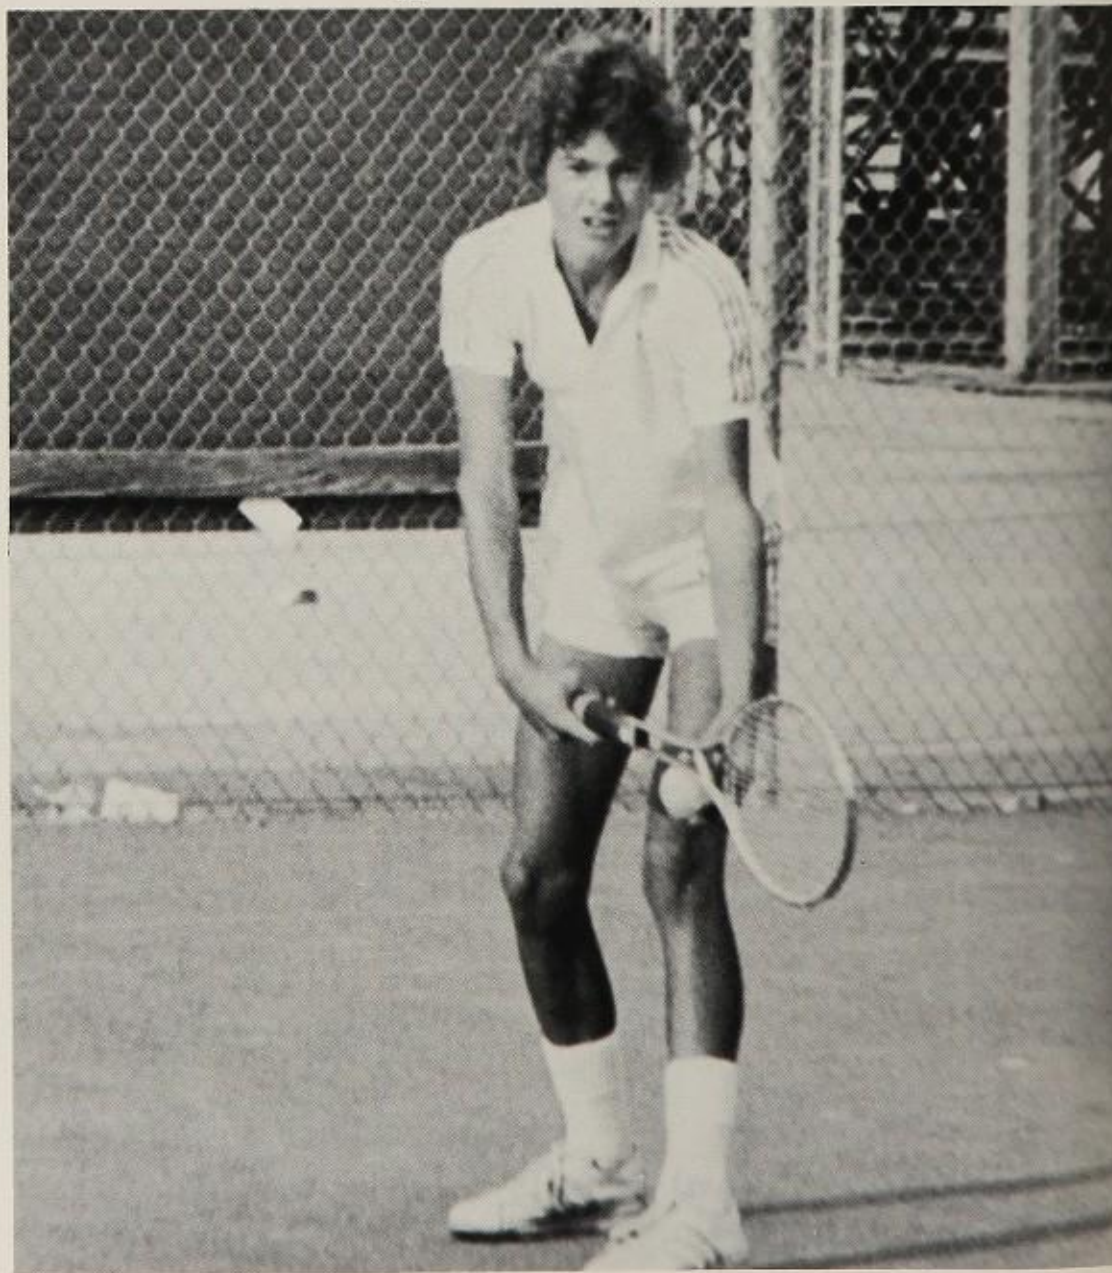

The team had strong play from seniors Kelly Brown, Ted Bossart, Bob Strimling and Todd Kobrin. Kelly Brown made the best showing by taking third in zone and state. Bob Strimling and Ted Bossart contributed to the team's record of 9-1. The team of Kobrin and Kevin Brown led team doubles play and finished third in both zone and state. There was also doubles support from the teams of Ralph Johnston and Lance Peterson, and Corey Jenkins and Allen Paquet. Sophomore Danny Shapiro was a first-year player who developed maturity during the season.

Coach Robert Wilcox was very proud of the team's second place finish in zone, but added that the upcoming years would be a time for rebuilding.

Girls' tennis finishes with a one-loss record

The CHS girls' tennis team, with its many state victories, has long been a dominating force in high school tennis. After losing last year's state tournament by a score of 13½-14½, the returning players pulled together to produce a winning team with a one-loss record. They fell short of retaining the zone title by losing a tough match to Valley. The majority of this year's team have been playing since their freshman or sophomore years.

Individual players carried on the Clark tradition of participating in both the zone and state tournaments. The doubles teams were the strong force this year and placed well at state. The team of Beth Snavelly and Susan Frank led the Chargers to a zone victory over the top Valley team of Gina Espinosa and Christi Gonzales. They also finished a close second at state. The duo of Karen Goodall and Kathleen Delaney was also a strong team for the lady Chargers. They finished third in zone and made it to the semi-finals of state, where they finished in fourth place.

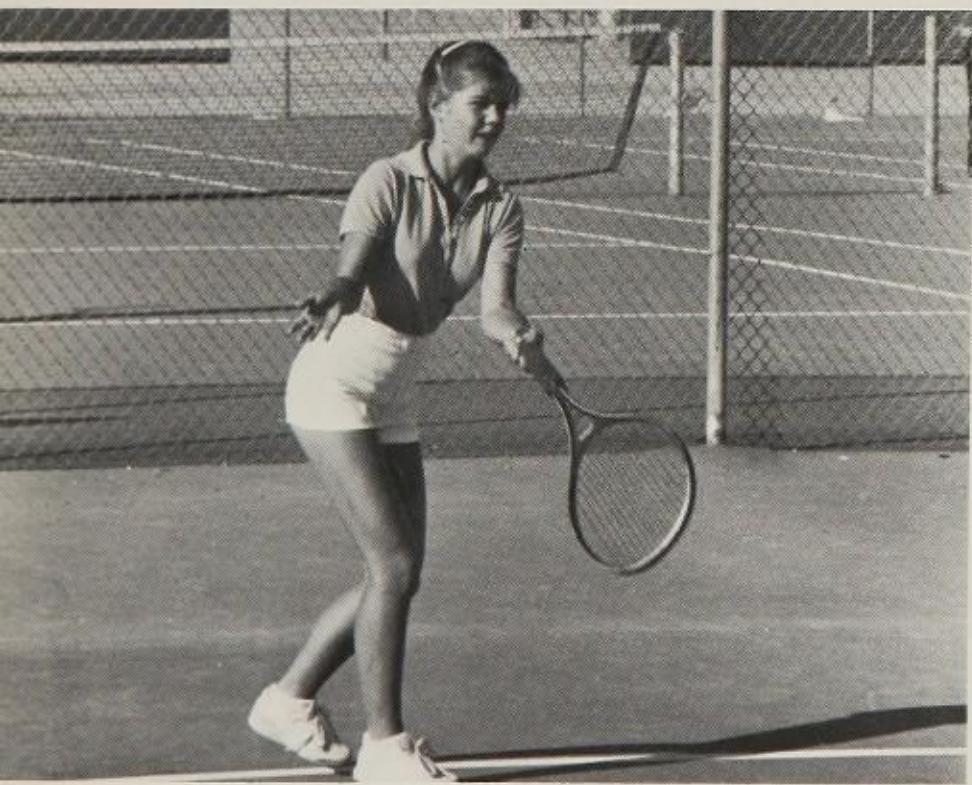

Also contributing to this year's team were senior Katie Scott and juniors Susie Strimling and Cheryl Cohen. Sophomore Cindy Lauer began the season well; but because of an injury, she had to withdraw from team play. First-year player Christa Anderson contributed to the team's overall success with individual wins.

Coach Robert Wilcox was pleased with the team's performance this year and their second place in zone. He indicated that the team will be strong for many years to come and will continue their domination of the sport in conference play.

Cross country team in need of runners

Due to the lack of members needed to qualify for meet competition, the CHS cross country team was forced to forfeit all of its races as a team. However, runners were able to compete as individuals.

Sophomore Jamie Bisplinghoff did qualify for state with a third place finish of 20:38 over a 5,000 meter course. State was held at the Washoe Country Golf Course in Reno. State finalist Bisplinghoff was in top form; but it wasn't good enough, as she placed eighth over all.

Head Coach Bill Berthold regretted the lack of members and the fact that there was only one returning member from last year's team. "Next year we expect to have more returning runners," stated Coach Berthold.

Putting their skill and talent together, the girls' golf team had "all and all, a good season" according to Coach Jiles Reiley. Because the team failed to field a complete team of five competitors, Clark forfeited several of its matches. Despite difficulties with having such a small team, two of the girls, juniors Lisa Miller and Linda Showers, qualified for zone. Coach Reiley said, "Both girls played well all year. On any given day, any one of the girls could have been at her best." Other key players on the team were senior Teri Ennes and sophomore Samantha Powers.

Lady Chargers have first chance at state

Girls' varsity basketball had a solid season this year with an overall win-loss record of 10-3 in league play. Coach Theresa Conerly was very proud of her team, which took third place in the zone tournament. During league play the girls finished second behind Valley, to whom they lost by a score of 29-39.

Coach Conerly said, "The girls played well this year. There was more of a team concept than individual play; this helped us a lot."

Leading the team was Susan Murray, who was high scorer with an average of 22.5. Murray, the most valuable player, made the All-Conference team and was the first girl from Clark ever to make the All-Zone team. Not only did the team have Murray, but it had balance offensively and defensively with such players as Kira Strehlow, who held her own against the bigger girls in the league. Three girls on the team who moved from junior varsity up to varsity to play in the zone and state tournaments were Doris Fickland, Lyshonn Jefferson, and Jennifer Wesley.

Although the girls did not reach the finals of the state tournament, Coach Conerly was still proud of them: this was the first year Clark ever competed in the state tourney. Coach Conerly summarized the season this way; "You work with what you have. This year we had a lot of talent so it was easier to teach the girls different skills and have the skills carried out during games."

With desire and skill JV cagers rebound to a successful year

The locker room echoed sounds of excitement as the girls' junior varsity basketball team got ready for their games. The girls worked hard all season with improvement over last year's record. Observers attributed the change to the quality of players and the emphasis on skills from first year coach Renee Brown.

With an overall win-loss season of 10-8, the girls did considerably better than last year. "They had a lot of spirit, enthusiasm, and desire," said Coach Brown. Throughout the season LaShaun Jefferson scored enough goals to become overall high scorer. Her talent also helped the team win the game against Valley, in which the girls won by one point in a double overtime. Help came to the girls at the end of the season in the form of Gidger Carlson. "Carlson helped to add a spark to the team," said Coach Brown. With a win-loss record of 7-6 in league play, three of the girls — Lyshonn Jefferson, Doris Fickland, and Jennifer Wesley — moved up to varsity to play in the Zone and State Tournaments.

Varsity Cagers finish with record of 26-6

Local sports writers predicted that the Clark Chargers, under the experienced coaching of veteran Gary Wheeler, would finish the season number one in the Sunset Division. Some even went as far as predicting a state championship for the Chargers. These predictions were based on the players' height, experience, and defensive ability.

The Chargers did finish first in their division, thereby gaining an automatic berth in the state tournament. In Zone competition Clark defeated Gorman but fell to Valley in the championship game. State proved to be a rematch of the zone tourney. Traveling to Reno, Clark defeated Douglas High School, ranked third in the North. They then handed Gorman their fourth defeat of the season to bring them against Valley for the title. The Championship game was a close match which ended 45-45, forcing overtime play in which the Chargers held total control of the ball, but failed to score. Valley controlled the tip in the second overtime period and managed to sink a basket. A highly contested call in the last few seconds left both players and spectators questioning the outcome, but Clark took the loss, 45-47.

Clark relied heavily on its man-to-man defense and occasionally alternated between a two-three and one-three-one zone defenses to keep their opposition off balance. Excellent defensive players included Brian Brown, Bruce Gaitor, Michael Thrower, and Ricky Henry.

The team's offensive strategies included a variation of UCLA's high-post offense against their opponents man-to-man defense. Clark also relied on a patient zone offense that, through good team passing, exploited the weaknesses of their opponents defenses. Also effective offensively for the Chargers was a new zone-press offense that attacked the full court press defense of their opponents. Strong offensive players included Bruce Gaitor, Mark Dixon, Scott Scarborough, and Averian Parrish.

The Glendora Tournament in Southern California proved to be a valuable experience for the team. The Chargers fared well, winning three out of four games, to place third among sixteen teams. Their second holiday outing, the Nike Holiday Tournament, brought disappointment to the team with a loss to Calvert Hall, ranked first nationally, and an unexpected defeat from Rancho in the consolation bracket.

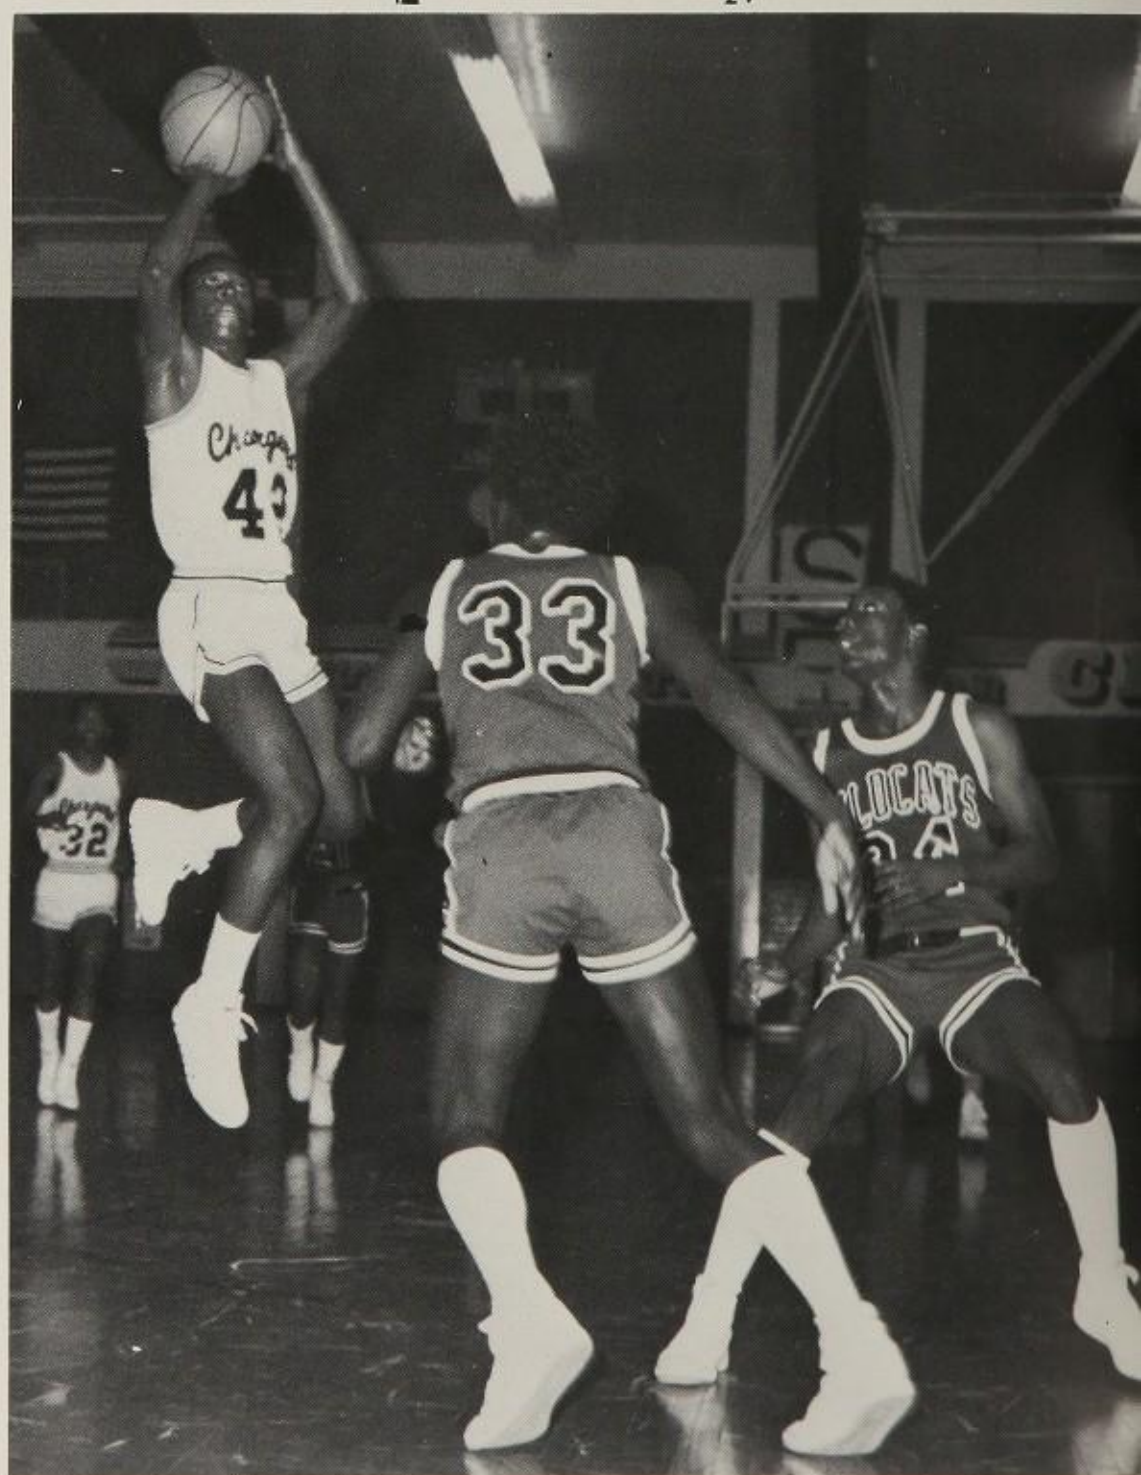

Three of the team's key players were three-year lettermen, Bruce Gaitor, Mark Dixon, and Brian Brown. All three have been on the Varsity squad since their sophomore year. Other players that contributed to the team's success were Steve Justice, Ricky Henry, Averian Parrish, Scott Scarborough, Jeff Knesh, Michael Thrower, Rodney Thomas, Dereck Washington, and Ronnie Hall.

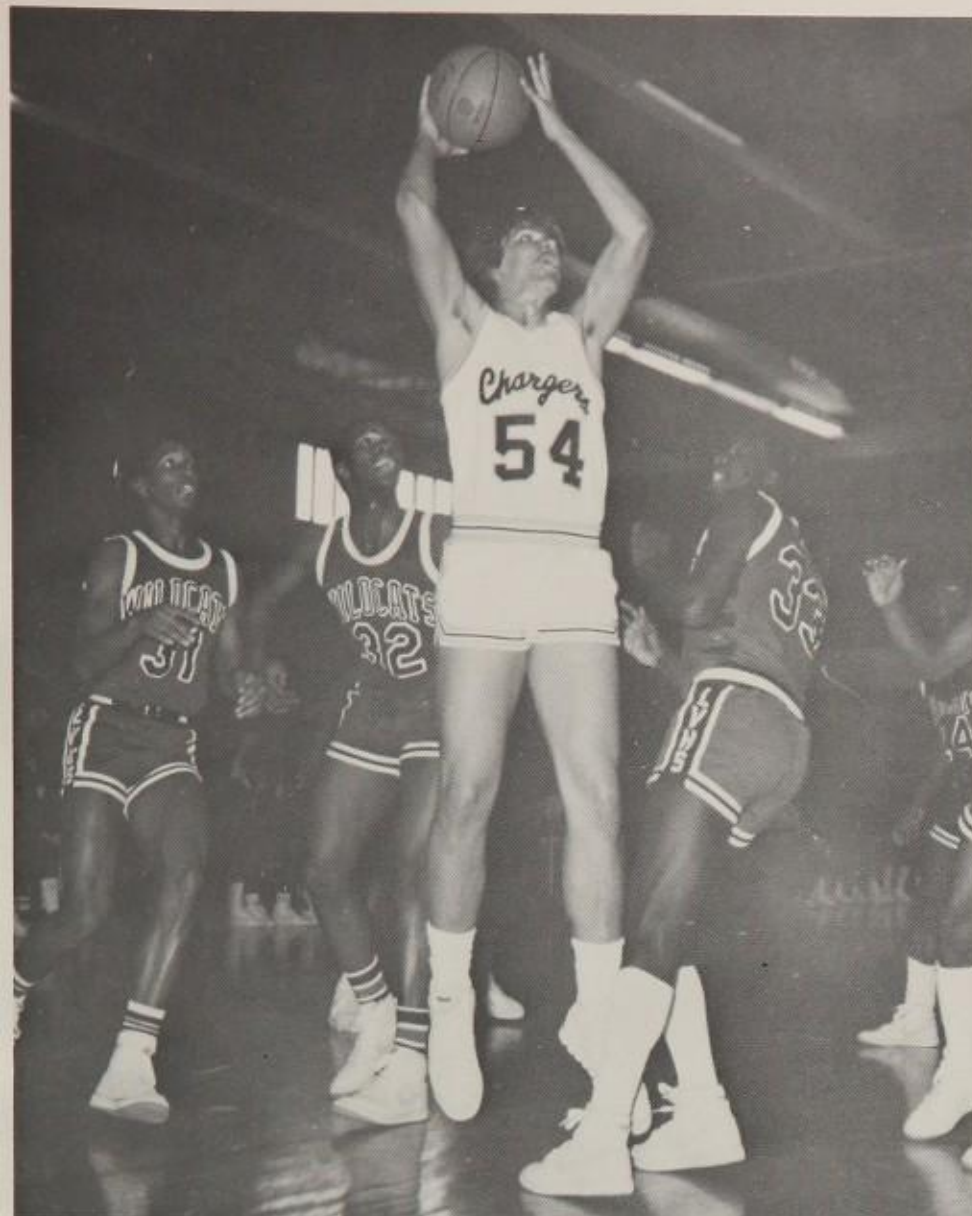

Assistant Coach John Nelson commented on the team, "This is the third team I've coached in Las Vegas, and it's the best group of guys I've ever dealt with. All the members cooperate with each other, play well, and maintain a strong defensive game."

Varsity cagers combine skill and experience to gain wins

Hard work pays off for Clark JV cagers

The 1981-82 junior varsity basketball team had a rough season. Most of the players came to try-outs inexperienced in man-to-man defense, and many had never played competitive basketball.

Because of their inexperience, they lacked the valuable skill requirements of quickness and passing. As the season progressed, these areas were corrected through hard work and desire. According to Head Coach Roy Berger, the team's hard work during the Christmas vacation enabled them to learn the system and beat their toughest competitors — Gorman, Bonanza, and Valley.

Although the team improved as a whole, Ezell Wiley, Ken Dumas, Jim Day, and Marvin Longford were named the most improved players. Coach Berger felt that his players would benefit next year's varsity squad. He also stated, "The varsity squad will be in need of good ball handlers. If the guards improve their skills, one of them could step in and start next year."

Girls' bowling team finishes tough season fourth in league play

The 1981-82 girls' bowling team finished the season fourth in their league. The team was led by junior Donna Loguda with an average of 176, which was the second highest average in the city. Consistently high averages were also held by Lisa Lopez, Andrea Tomasello, Lori Markham, and Jackie Scherer.

Coach Chuck Stuart believed that the girls' bowling team's main weakness was their lack of experience. Like the boys' team, the majority of the girls were sophomores and juniors. However, these returning bowlers will be an asset to next year's varsity squad.

In closing, Coach Stuart stressed that all members were hard working and he was glad to be their coach.

Boys' bowling team experiences success

This year's boys' varsity bowling team was a strong force in Las Vegas bowling competition. The team was paced by juniors Rob Hill and Bryan Anderson. Good supporting bowlers were Andy Cheda, Aaron Gordon, and Roy Graham. Anderson's average was a solid 184, followed closely by Hill's 183.

Coach Chuck Stuart cited the team's strengths: "They worked hard and they realized that they could be winners." He believed that the team's chief weakness was their lack of experience, due to the great amount of juniors and sophomores on the team. However, he stressed that this will be a great asset to next year's squad, because only one team member will be graduating.

Speed, skill, action assist soccer team

As compared to last year's team, this year's varsity soccer team had more natural ability for the game. Because of such basic talent each player was able to play three or four different positions during the games.

In his second year Coach Dave Castro said, "They were young and inexperienced at the varsity level of play, yet proved to be a quick-learning team." The team's major weakness proved to be that the players were still performing at a junior varsity level instead of a varsity level as they entered the season.

Coach Castro commented, "This year's team had to prove to everyone just how much they wanted the championship." The Chargers earned the rank as one of the strong contenders in zone play.

JV gains experience along with teamwork on the soccer field

Although they lacked experience on the field, the junior varsity soccer team made up for it with spirit, desire, and willingness to play. With one junior and nine sophomores, the team had a tough image to live up to, since last year's soccer team was city champion.

"Some of the dominating players on the team were Alan Taggard, Max Dickson, Bryan Lutz, and Mark Borlase," said Coach Patrick Webb. This was Coach Webb's second year as coach for the JV soccer team. He believed that one of the main weaknesses of this year's team was total lack of experience. But with the experience gained this year, Coach Webb predicted that next year's varsity team should dominate Las Vegas soccer.

Upper weight classes help secure victories for varsity wrestling

The 1981-82 varsity wrestling squad could be described as fairly young and inexperienced. However, the coaches said that all the members participated and had a willingness to work hard and practice. Specifically cited were captains Ashley Abdo and Kyle Hurst and seniors Dan Flaherty and Jim Moreno, who were all potential state contenders. Senior John Bostaph, juniors Phillip Kleinpeter and Leo Rodriguez, and freshman Bobby Barraza were considered the most improved wrestlers. Assistant Coach Dave Bennion commented, "The team had overall exceptional talent. I was very pleased with their accomplishments."

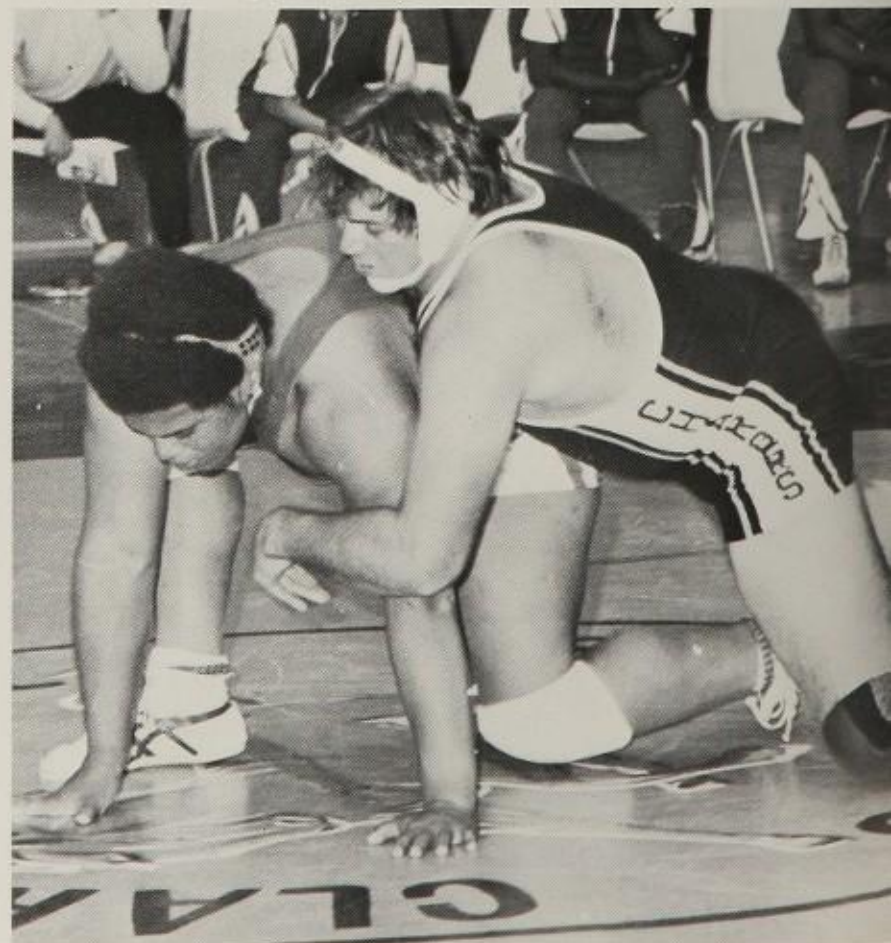

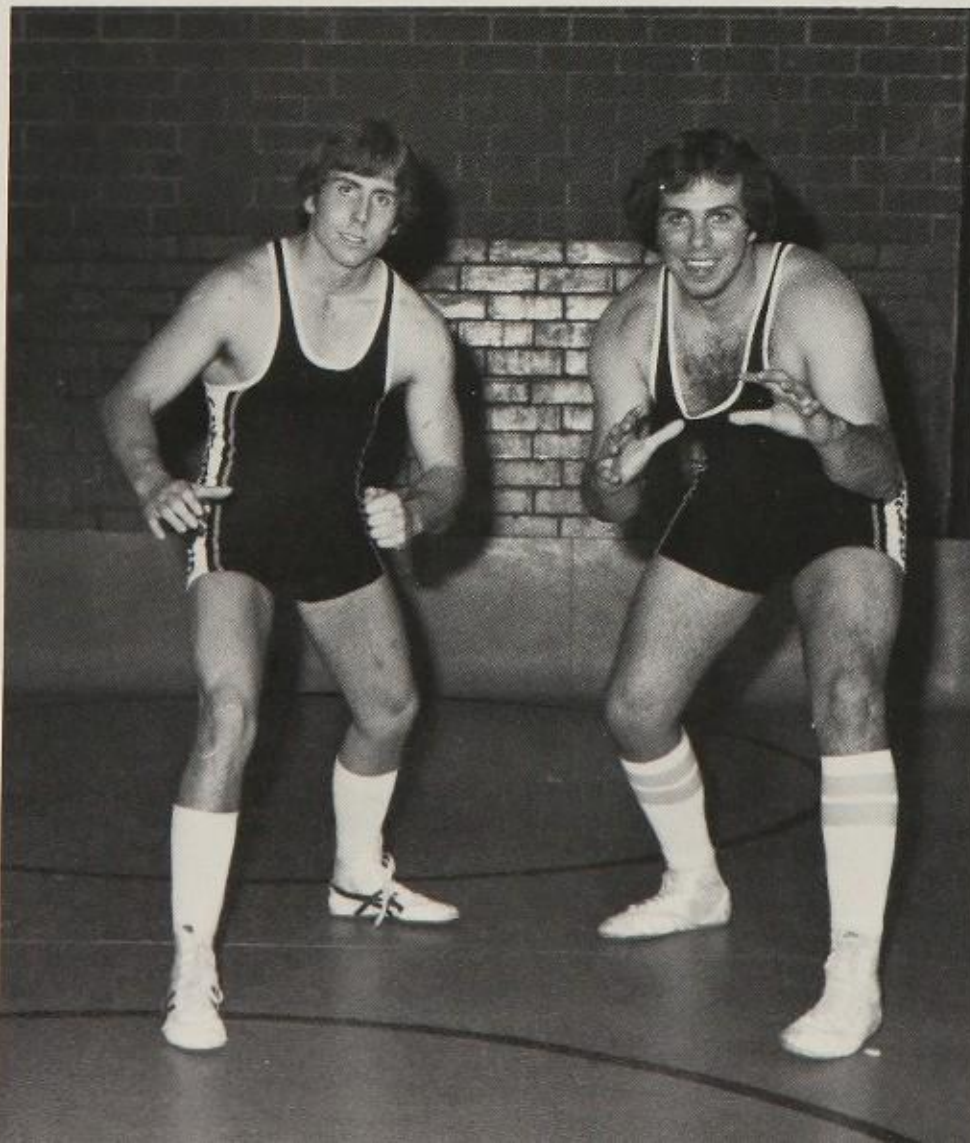

The season began with a victory over Las Vegas High School, but later the team experienced close, disappointing losses including Chaparral, Western, and Rancho. Assistant Coach Steve Marafino stated, "We had a hard time filling weight classes. This hurt us considerably in close matches because we were forced to use several first-year wrestlers on varsity." Head Coach Jim Massey also commented, "The team was young and inexperienced, but it was still a satisfying year." Nevertheless, all three coaches agreed that the future looked excellent for wrestling at Clark High School.

JV grapplers display wrestling techniques, develop varsity skills

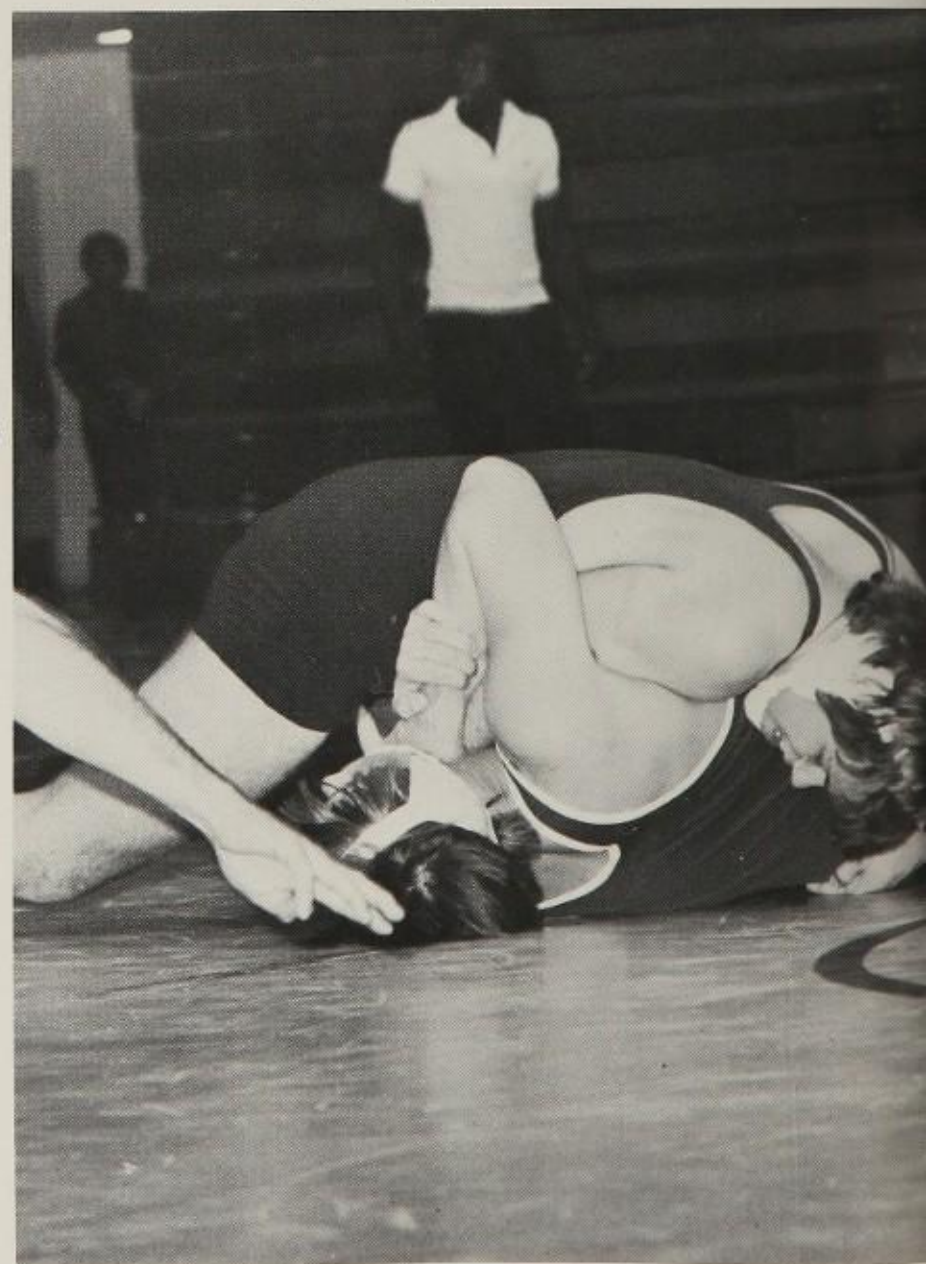

The JV wrestling squad lacked experience, but not determination. The season began with a victory over Las Vegas High School. However, the team met tough competitors and then experienced close losses. Assistant Coach Steve Marafino said, "The team's inability to fill two weight classes might have contributed to these losses."

The 1981-82 team could be described as hard-working and willing to learn new moves. Daily practices improved the team steadily and helped them gain varsity experience. Coach Marafino mentioned sophomores Guy Nakamura and Frank Carlos and junior Chris Grill as the most improved grapplers on this year's team.

The coaches agreed that the team's greatest strength was their unity in teamwork. However, some of the wrestlers that stood out in their ability to compete were freshmen Kermit Day and Roger Shumann, sophomores Dennis Young, Guy Nakamura, Frank Carlos, and Jimmy Evans, and junior Chris Grill. Assistant Coach Dave Bennion predicted, "We will challenge Eldorado for the championship in three years." Jim Massey summed up the season: "Future wrestling teams look promising."

With leading spikers, Clark's girls capture zone, state crowns

Girls' varsity volleyball did it again this year for their coach Robert Kelly. For the second year in a row, Clark was a powerhouse in league competition, considered to be "The team to beat".

Predictions held true as the girls took crowns in both the Zone and State Tournaments. Pulses racing, bodies aching, the girls had to play four games in one day during the State Tournament, a feat which proved to be exhausting but well worth it. During the tournament the girls defeated Chaparral and Proctor Hug before the championship match in which they broke Carson City's 46-game winning streak to take the state title. Sue Murray and Susan Evans earned spots on the All-State team.

Having practice two to three hours a day, six days a week, was one of the key contributors to the girls' successful play. Coach Kelly said, "The girls had a lot of willingness and desire, which helped them during their games as well." "One of the dominating players," Coach Kelly said, "was Susan Evans." She led the team in all offensive categories as well as defensive, and was team captain. Coach Kelly said the team revolved around her with solid play from other players such as Kira Strehlow, Annette Rogers, Kathleen Delaney, Diane Morgan, and Sue Murray.

JV Volleyball squad uses positive attitude, combats inexperience

This year's junior varsity volleyball team was under the direction of a newcomer to Clark High School, Miss Renee Brown. She felt that although the team was small and inexperienced, their willingness to learn and their positive attitudes helped to make the season a valuable experience. Through many hours of practice on weekdays, weekends, and holidays, the team learned and perfected their game.

Leading the team with a strong performance was junior Gloria Phillips. The rest of their team consisted of Brenda Garber, Carolyn Richardson, Kim Lima, Renee Howard, Ellen Parham, Dawn Wilson, Denise Rogers, and Chris McGrath.

"We've come along way, and with the positive attitudes and willingness to work, the entire team has improved," stated Coach Brown.

Because gymnastics is not an inter-school athletic activity in Clark County, the sport receives no school funds. Therefore, team members raised their own money for uniforms, entry fees, and travel expenses. Coach Apperson, long a proponent of school gymnastics programs, explained the situation this way: "Gymnastics is a relatively expensive sport. However, the real problem in Clark County is not money — it is a lack of qualified coaches."

FACULTY

Prepare us for life

Harriet Gray

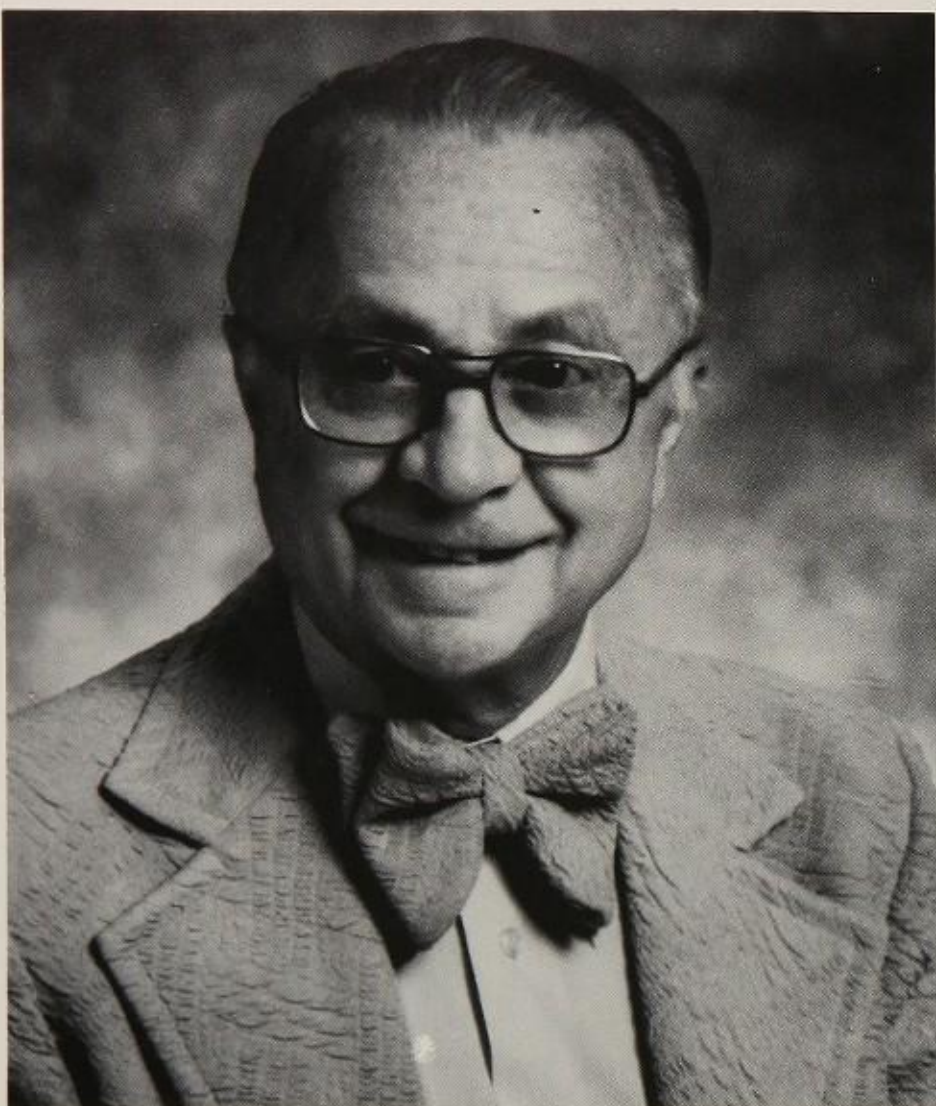

1944-1981

The summer of 1981 brought a loss to Clark High School with the untimely death of Mrs. Harriet Gray. Her infectious enthusiasm, gentle humor, and positive outlook brightened the lives of hundreds of students as well as staff members during her fourteen years as a business teacher.

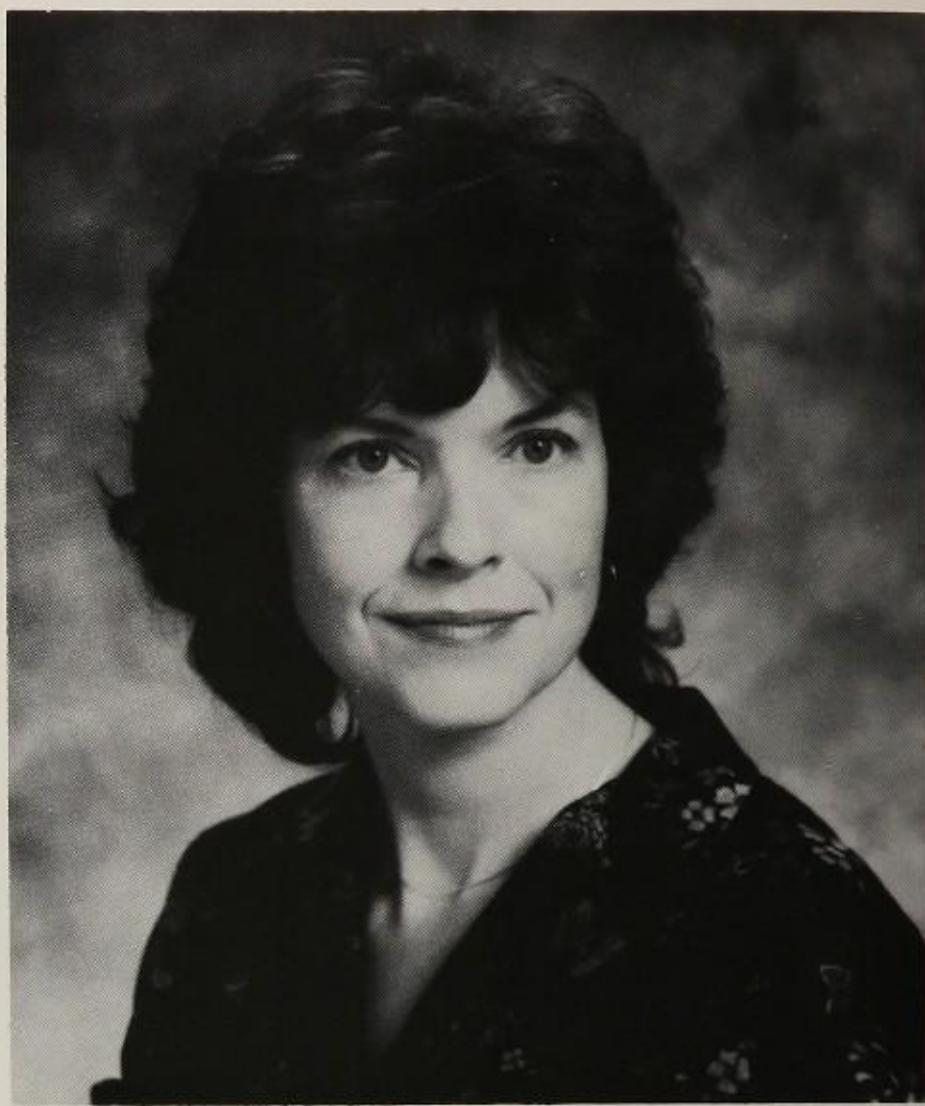

Clark felt her presence in a variety of ways. Many classes benefited from her experience as an advisor, as did the National Honor Society. Even groups with whom she had no official role called on her for special help with projects. Oldtimers at Clark still chuckle over her scene-stealing performance in the 1969 faculty play, which provided scholarship funds for Clark seniors. During the 1970-71 school year she relinquished her preparation period to teach a class which otherwise would have been canceled.

Often the most significant contributions in human experience are the small, usually unnoticed, daily acts of kindness. Mrs. Gray's life touched many with quiet words of encouragement and empathic understanding. She was a friend.

Many lives are richer because she was a part of Clark High School.

Academic offerings provide varied levels of classroom learning

As the first group to face the reality of minimum competency as a requirement for graduation, the Class of 1982 found varied levels of instruction available in academic courses.

To fulfill the reading and writing requirements, the English Department offered instruction which stressed basic skills; however, other courses provided challenges for the most serious college-bound student. Likewise, the Math Department's curriculum ranged from intensive, competency-based classes to Analysis and Computer Math.

While not yet directly involved with proficiency testing, other departments — Social Studies, Science, and Foreign Languages — provided diversified instruction which met requirements for college entrance and Nevada statutes.

In vocational classes students learn skills, prepare for future

The vocational classes at Clark aimed to prepare students for various skilled professions and everyday life. The Home-Ec Department, for example, has both practical and professional applications. The Child Development class gave future child-care specialists more confidence for their freshman college year, while at the same time offered sound advice to future homemakers.

Drafting, Auto, and Wood Shop classes encompassed manual dexterity and quality workmanship. Drafting was a popular class for those interested in architecture.

Besides providing instruction in clerical skills like shorthand and typing, business classes also reached into the fields of accounting, law, and economics. A useful program for many students was the work experience program, which allowed academic credit, under school supervision, for time spent on a job.

Specialized courses stress lifetime skills

Some of Clark's mandatory classes included Health, Driver's Education, Careers and Physical Education.

Health classes were required for one semester for all sophomores. Students learned about themselves and also studied how their bodies work. They learned about the cause-and-effect relationships of drinking, smoking, and drug abuse.

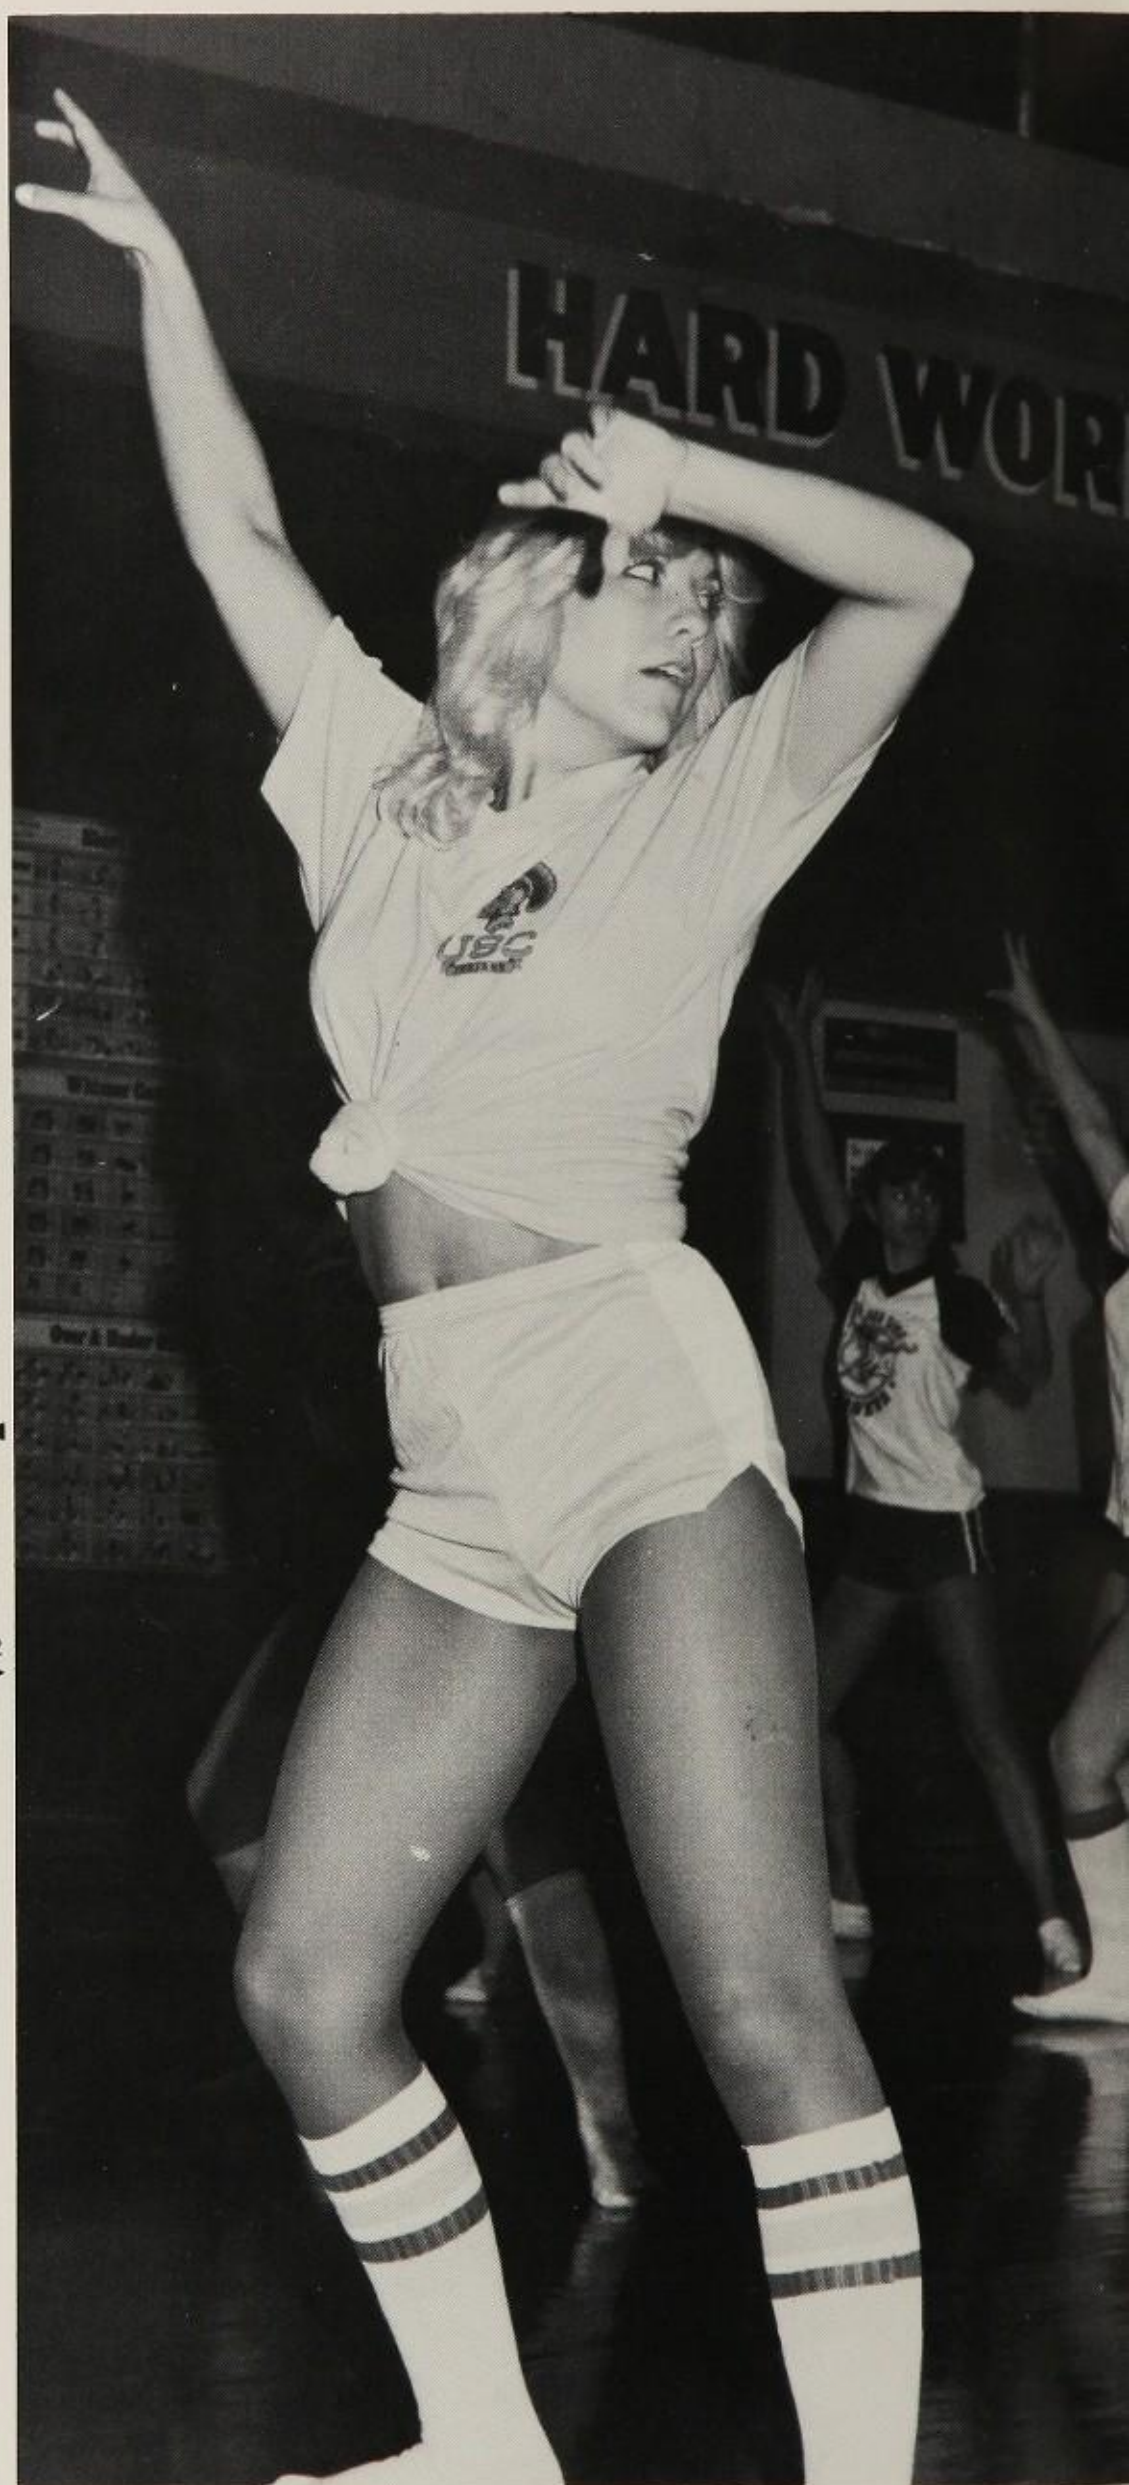

Sophomores took Driver's Education for one nine-week period. This course familiarized the students with the driving laws in Nevada. Simulators and behind-the-wheel training were provided to help students learn the correct way to drive a car.

A career class promoted awareness of the various fields for career choices. Students were required to write a report at the end of the nine weeks on a career of their choice. The practical aspects of jobseeking, including applications and resumes, added to the course of study.

Physical Education seemed to be a favorite of the students. Many students go on to take P.E. throughout their remaining years of high school even after requirements are met. A few sports that the students were introduced to were soccer, softball, archery and tennis; instruction included actual game skills as well as rules.

1. Checking on college information, Dale Akridge uses the Careers library. 2. Debbie Wilson performs a routine during dance P.E. 3. Jennifer Shadduck explains the structure of bone. 4. Behind-the-wheel experience with a simulator helps Sonia Batista learn driving skills.

Creative expression is free to blossom in fine arts classes

The Fine Arts Department, an area without required classes, provided the chance for students to find creativity and pleasure in a variety of ways.

Performance was the focus of the award-winning instrumental and vocal music groups. Whether learning basic techniques or perfecting skills of showmanship, participants had the satisfaction of creating music. Similarly, drama classes proved that "the play's the thing." Speech and drama students competed locally and regionally in a wide range of categories.

Clay, paint, yarn, metal — these were only a few of the media used by art students in their quest for creative expression. Likewise, the artistic aspects of photography became another area of self-enrichment.

1. Ceramics student Eric Hanson adds the final touches to his project. 2. Mrs. Neel rehearses with the Advanced Choir. 3. Theater classes emphasize practical exercises in dramatic interpretation.

Many service duties taken by personnel are crucial to school

Various school services, though not always occurring within the regular classroom, rounded out Clark's total education picture.

Certificated personnel staffed several areas. The Special Education Department provided individualized help in a small group environment. The library and audio-visual services served more students than any other single department with a vast array of resource materials — including books, periodicals, films, and records. Counselors offered guidance for careers or college and provided scholarship information as well.

In non-certificated areas school personnel completed the total program. Clark's full-time health aide administered basic first aid, kept health records, and conducted hearing and vision screening. The cafeteria staff prepared and served both breakfast and lunch, struggling to keep costs down in spite of inflation and cuts in federal subsidies. School safety was the responsibility of the security guard and hall monitors. Clerical workers handled the enormous volume of paperwork for over 2,300 students. Last, but not least, custodians kept the physical environment safe, clean, and functional.

Senior class council uses their imagination for successful year

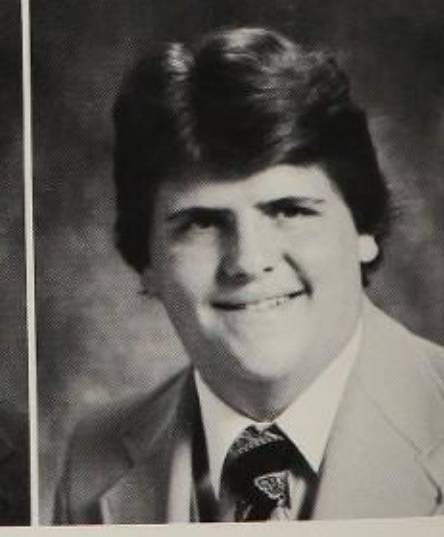

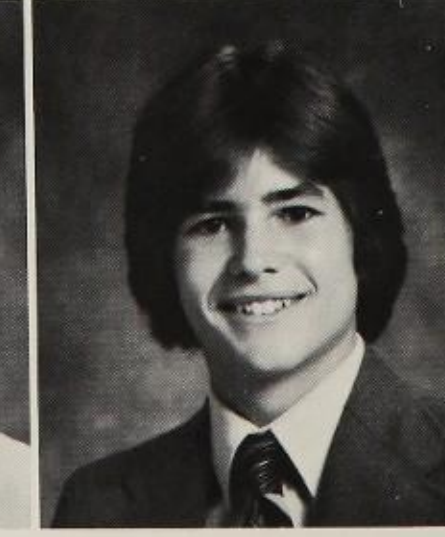

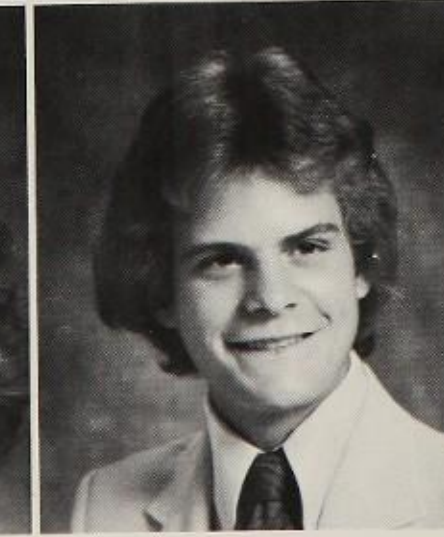

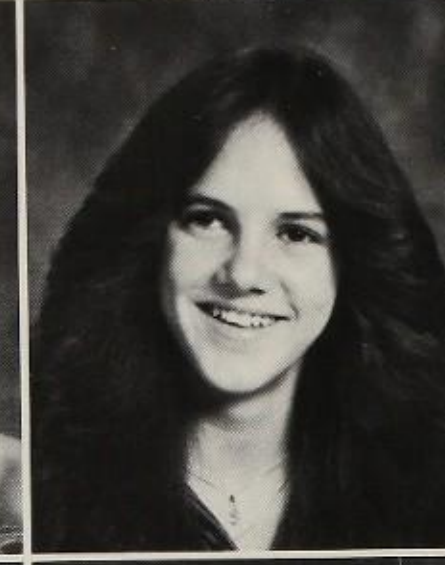

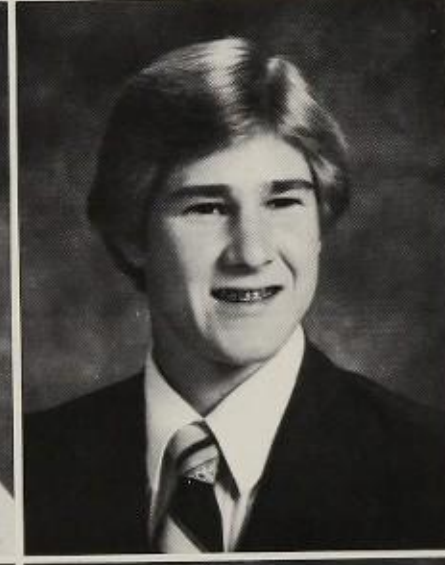

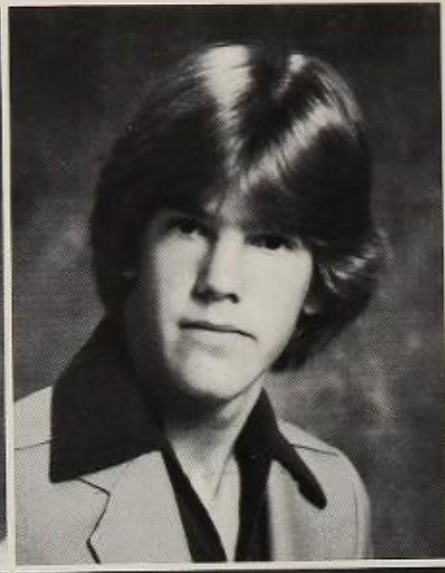

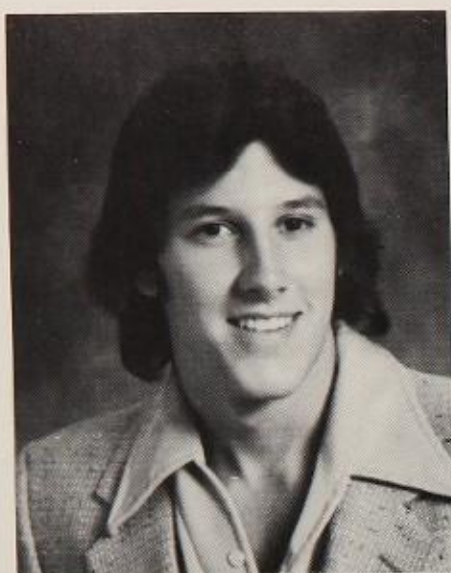

The year 1982 was marked with numerous tradition-breaking and tradition-making events. This year's graduation class was the last to enter Clark as freshmen. It was also the last class to graduate with only 19½ credits, as the graduation requirements will be higher in the following years. Along with these changes, there were many others which included being the first class to be required to take a competency exam to graduate.

In addition to the changes this class has experienced, it has accomplished much. Winning the float competition as well as the VW races in both their junior and senior years, the class showed their '82 spirit. Traditional activities such as the Child Haven Christmas Party, Sadie Hawkins, the Senior Ball, and graduation were sponsored by the Senior Class Council. The council also organized many fund raisers, which included selling spirit buttons, donuts, and messages for the marquee.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In the course of the past year, many people have helped with the production of the 1982 Cavalcade. Although the major planning, designing and proofing were done by the editors, the bulk of the layouts, writing, and picture selection was done by staff members. Along with our work, many others in the school as well as the community contributed in the overall production of the book.

First, we must thank Vickie Woodbury, whose excellent artwork and cooperation provided us with our special cover. To Mr. Misenor, Mr. Yake, and the Las Vegas News Bureau for their photographic contributions. To Albert and James who took all student photographs and helped fill the gaps in our shooting schedule. And to the Crystal Palace, "Home of One of a Kind Gifts," for lending us one of their crystal horses.

We would like to give a special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Hale for their constant encouragement, ideas, photographic talent, and extra hours. We especially want to express our appreciation to Bob Stephenson and Taylor Publishing Company for their knowledge and help in producing the book. Two people, Mr. Collis and Mrs. Mackie, who managed the administrative and financial end of the book, receive a much deserved thanks from us. We certainly cannot forget to thank all those who supported our book through advertisements. Their generosity is greatly appreciated.

Finally, we would like to thank everyone in fourth period; you're the greatest! And last, but certainly not least, we would like to thank the entire Edward W. Clark High School student body for providing the events and supporting this yearbook.

Thanks again,
JENNY, ANN, JOANNA

Life is an evolution,
A synthesis of everything that has come before.
We will always remember the processions which shaped our lives at CHS.
And we will look with anticipation at our future cavalcades.

Kimberly -

We go back far — So many memories... Some good and some... well... interesting! Our Pat and Pete days, I'll never forget!!! They were so much fun!!! The night we threw them out of your house, our triple date, Pat's eyes, Pete's brains (does he have any?), the night I told Pete to jam, RUSH, all the times we spied on Pat (even with our hair wet... remember?), There goes a white truck!, "Pete's Together with Janie", our last scam... NO! Something tells me they're gonna show up in ASU! We're stuck with those two peons forever! What else? You soothing my heart breaks from Ashley Abdo... how stupid! Your Donny, Felipe, and million more lovers. CHEMISTRY! How funny!! We had the best lab group ever! UNKNOWN! HA!! Going to class in an "unscientific manner", your car... those jerks!, Our 2 month silent fight, I knew our friendship was too special to keep that up, Oh Kim, I could go on forever!
